The corrected release reads:

CARNEGIE TECHNOLOGIES AND FOUNDER PAUL POSNER NOMINATE FIVE HIGHLY QUALIFIED CANDIDATES FOR THE BOARD OF MAGICJACK VOCALTEC LTD.

Current Board Has Been Unable to Unlock Value for All Shareholders

Seeks to Undertake a Comprehensive Strategic Alternatives Process

Carnegie Technologies Intends to Submit a Proposal to Purchase magicJack for $8.50 per share

Carnegie Technologies Holdings, LLC and Founder Paul M. Posner ("Carnegie"), the holder of approximately 1.6% of the shares in magicJack VocalTec Ltd. ("magicJack" or the "Company") (NASDAQ: CALL), today announced the nomination of five highly qualified candidates for election to magicJack's Board of Directors at its 2016 Annual Meeting of Shareholders. The Carnegie nominees include Frank Bell, Nabil El-Hage, Richard Kimsey, Morris Miller and Richard Talarico. Carnegie also supports the election of magicJack director nominee Gerald Vento, and Alan B. Howe, a nominee of Kanen Wealth Management, LLC ("Kanen").

"magicJack shareholders deserve a Board that is committed to a process that can unlock value for all shareholders," said Paul Posner, Founder and CEO of Carnegie Technologies. "With a history of value destructive decisions and ineffective leadership, it is time for significant change at the board level and to put in place skilled, experienced directors that have the willingness to return cash to shareholders, and the capability to effectively evaluate all the company's assets and run a comprehensive strategic alternatives process that includes a sale of the company in whole or in parts."

magicJack shareholders should consider the following:

- . The current board of directors has been ineffective in producing an enhancement in the stock price for shareholders. The 90-day average stock price before the current board announced the acquisition of Broadsmart on March 15, 2016 was $8.32. The stock immediately sold off on the news of this ill-conceived transaction. The Company's average stock price in the 90 days before the Kanen letter of August 23, 2016 to effectuate change at the Company was $6.09, near historic lows - a 27% loss from the level just prior to the board action to buy Broadsmart. Currently, the average stock price over the past 90 days of $6.62 is a slight improvement, due primarily to the actions of Kanen.
- . The current board of directors has not returned cash to shareholders. Despite holding a large cash balance for several years, the Company never made any cash distributions to shareholders. Shareholders have therefore received neither cash nor share value appreciation.
- . The current board has used the Company's cash resources poorly, including 1) embarking on share buybacks that - by the Company's own admission - have not increased the stock price, but simply reduced the market capitalization of the Company; and 2) overpaying for the acquisition of Broadsmart, a company in a new and intensely competitive vertical, that has performed well below the guidance provided by the Company almost immediately after consummation of the transaction.
- . The current board has been ineffective in producing a liquid market for the Company's shares. Two years ago, there was roughly $10 million of daily trading activity in CALL stock. Today, there is less than 10% of that total. As such, shareholders have little chance of trading their shares without dramatically affecting the stock price.

The current board is unable to make corporate decisions effectively, as seen by the public statements to "redomesticate" the Company from Israel to the United States. The Company initially made comments that it intended to ask shareholders to approve such move at the annual shareholder meeting, back on May 10, 2016, only to defer such decision on the 2Q 2016 Earnings Call on August 9, 2016 and subsequently on the 3Q 2016 Earnings Call on November 9, 2016. In the Company's preliminary proxy materials of December 30, 2016 listing the agenda of items to consider at the annual shareholder meeting, the proposal is not even mentioned.

The current board continued a pattern of ineffective decision making and seemingly lacked the capacity to negotiate squarely with Kanen, a significant shareholder of the Company, while also considering the strategic priorities of all shareholders. In the Company's preliminary proxy materials, the Company's board seemingly endorsed a $45 million share buyback (on October 5 and October 20), only to reverse direction completely on December 29.

Based on the above, it is Carnegie's opinion that the current accommodation to the Kanen proposal is insufficient, either in changing the dynamics at the board of directors (in replacing one director and adding another), and in rejecting the proposed $45 million share buyback. Carnegie therefore proposes replacing a majority of the board of directors and commencing the exploration of comprehensive strategic alternatives for the Company, including a sale of the Company in whole or in parts. The directors Carnegie has nominated have long histories in the communications and technology industries, have served on public company boards, and have created shareholder value through both organic and inorganic initiatives. The proposed board also has experience in CEO searches, a critical matter as the Company announced the retirement plans of the current CEO whom we wish to retain as a board member in order to ensure a smooth operational transition. Carnegie is optimistic about the Company's potential under its ownership and intends to put forth a proposal to the newly elected board to acquire all of the outstanding shares of the Company for $8.50 per share. The prospective offer, which is subject to confirmatory due diligence, reflects a premium to current and historic stock price levels of the Company since the current board of directors approved the acquisition of BroadSmart. Further, it provides all shareholders an opportunity to sell their positions in a highly illiquid stock. Carnegie has retained The Bank Street Group as its financial advisor, as well as Meitar Liguornik Geva Leshem Tal as its Israeli counsel and Wiggin and Dana LLP as US securities law counsel in its pursuit of this matter.

magicJack shareholders of record at the close of business on January 25, 2017 will be entitled to vote at the 2016 Annual General Meeting scheduled for February 28, 2017, at 10:00 am Israel time. For additional details, please go to www.MJProxy.com [HN3] Noncompliance with Crim.R. 32(C) does not render a judgment of conviction void. Neither would it deprive the trial court of subject-matter jurisdiction. This is so because the rule addresses the finality, not the validity, of the judgment of conviction. Moreover, Crim.R. 32(C) requires a full resolution of those counts for which there were convictions. It does not require a reiteration of those counts and specifications for which there were no convictions, but were resolved in other ways, such as dismissals, nolle counts, or not guilty findings.

OPINION(REGULAR CALENDAR)*DECISION

KLATT, J.

[*P1] Defendant-appellant, David A. Peoples, appeals from a judgment of the Franklin County Court of Common Pleas denying his "Motion to Find Judgment Entry Void." For the following reasons, we affirm that judgment.

I. Factual and Procedural Background

[*P2] In 2001, a Franklin County Grand Jury indicted appellant with one count of aggravated murder with two firearm specifications and one count of having a weapon while under disability ("WUD charge"). Appellant entered a not guilty plea and proceeded to a jury trial. After the presentation of evidence, the trial court instructed the jury as to the charge of aggravated murder and the firearm specifications. The jury found appellant guilty of aggravated murder and the attendant firearm specifications and the trial court sentenced him accordingly.

[*P3] In this entire process, the WUD charge appears to have disappeared. There is no indication that appellant ever waived his right to be [2] tried to a jury on the WUD charge but the jury was not instructed on the charge and did not receive a verdict form for that charge. There were no references to the WUD charge during appellant's trial or at his sentencing hearing. The trial court's judgment entry of conviction only states that appellant was found guilty of aggravated murder and the firearm specifications. It also did not mention the WUD charge.

[*P4] Appellant appealed his conviction to this court and we affirmed. State v. Peoples, 10th Dist. No. 02AP-945, 2003-Ohio-4680. He did not raise the omission of the WUD charge as an assignment of error in that appeal.

[*P5] Twelve years later, however, on February 24, 2014, appellant filed the "Motion to Find Judgment Entry Void." In that motion, appellant argued that his judgment of conviction is void because it did not dispose of the WUD charge. The state conceded that appellant's judgment entry is silent as to the WUD charge but argued that such omission does not create a void judgment. The trial court denied appellant's motion.

II. Appellant's Appeal

[*P6] Appellant appeals and assigns the following error:

The trial court [erred] and deprived the Appellant of Due Process of law in violation of his Fifth, [3] Sixth, and Fourteenth Amendment[s] to the U.S. Constitution, and Article I, Section[s] 10 and 16 of the Ohio Constitution in that the trial court is divested of its jurisdiction to impose any sentence in light of the Franklin County [Court] of Common Pleas on the basis that there was no disposition as to count (2) two of the indictment, which the state acknowledges that it has been unable to obtain records regarding the disposition of the charge.

1 We will not consider appellant's additional assignments of error presented for the first time in his reply brief. State v. Altunar, 10th Dist. No. 13AP-875, 2014-Ohio-2787, fn.1, citing Hanlin-Rainaldi Constr. Corp. v. Jeepers, Inc., 10th Dist. No. 03AP-851, 2004-Ohio-6250, ¶ 22 ([HN1] "[A] reply brief is merely an opportunity to reply to the brief of appellee. * * * A reply brief may not raise new assignments, which were omitted from appellant's original brief, especially where leave to file a new assignment was not sought from this court.")

[*P7] In this assignment of error, appellant contends the trial court lacked jurisdiction to sentence him because his judgment of conviction did not resolve the WUD charge. We disagree.

[*P8] The trial court clearly had subject-matter jurisdiction to sentence appellant after the jury found him guilty of [4] aggravated murder and the attendant firearm specifications. State ex rel. Pruitt v. Donnelly, 129 Ohio St.3d 498, 2011-Ohio-4203, ¶ 2, 954 N.E.2d 117, citing R.C. 2931.03; State v. Deresse, 5th Dist. No. 14-CA-31, 2014-Ohio-4234, ¶ 19. The only question is the significance of the trial court's failure to address the WUD charge. Appellant alleges that the failure renders his judgment of conviction void because it violated Crim.R. 32(C).² We disagree.

2 [HN2] A judgment entry of conviction must follow Crim.R. 32(C) to be appealable. State v. Gwen, 134 Ohio St.3d 284, 2012-Ohio-5046, ¶ 20, 982 N.E.2d 626, citing State v. Baker, 119 Ohio St.3d 197, 2008-Ohio-3330, 893 N.E.2d 163. A final, appealable judgment entry of conviction must contain (1) the fact of the conviction, (2) the sentence, (3) the judge's signature, and (4) the time stamp indicating the entry upon the journal by the clerk. State v. Lester, 130 Ohio St.3d 303, 2011-Ohio-5204, 958 N.E.2d 142, paragraph one of the syllabus. Appellant does not dispute that his judgment of conviction satisfies these requirements as to his conviction for aggravated murder.

[*P9] First, [HN3] noncompliance with Crim.R. 32(C) does not render a judgment of conviction void. State v. Pointer, 2d Dist. No. 24446, 2011-Ohio-5072, ¶ 22; State v. Staffrey, 7th Dist. No. 2011-Ohio-5760, ¶ 27-29. Neither would it deprive the trial court of subject-matter jurisdiction. State v. Ervin, 8th Dist. No. 100366, 2014-Ohio-1631, ¶ 13. This is so because the rule addresses the finality, not the validity, of the judgment of conviction. Id. Accordingly, res judicata bars appellant from raising this claim because he could have raised it in his direct appeal of his conviction. State v. Alexander, 5th Dist. No. 2014CA00014, 2014-Ohio-2294, ¶ 15-16 (rejecting same argument on res judicata grounds).

[*P10] Moreover, Crim.R. 32(C) "requires a full [5] resolution of those counts for which there were convictions. It does not require a reiteration of those counts and specifications for which there were no convictions, but were resolved in other ways, such as dismissals, nolle counts, or not guilty findings." State ex rel. Davis v. Cuyahoga Cty. Court of Common Pleas, 127 Ohio St.3d 29, 2010-Ohio-4728, ¶ 2, 936 N.E.2d 41, quoting State ex rel. Davis v. Cuyahoga Cty. Court of Common Pleas, 8th Dist. No. 93814, 2010-Ohio-1066, ¶ 8. Thus, because appellant was not convicted of the WUD charge, the trial court's failure to indicate the disposition of the WUD charge did not violate Crim.R. 32(C) or affect the finality of appellant's judgment of conviction. State v. Priest, 2d Dist. No. 25896, 2014-Ohio-3843, ¶ 13; State v. Moore, 7th Dist. No. 12 MA 197, 2013-Ohio-4000, ¶ 47.

[*P11] The trial court had jurisdiction to sentence appellant and its judgment of conviction satisfied Crim.R. 32(C). Because appellant's judgment of conviction was not void, the trial court did not err by denying appellant's motion. State v. Shepherd, 4th Dist. No. 12CA3469, 2012-Ohio-5631, ¶ 15. Accordingly, we overrule appellant's assignment of error, and affirm the judgment of the Franklin County Court of Common Pleas.

APPEAL from the Franklin County Court of Common Pleas. (C.P.C. No. 09 CR 2809).

DISPOSITION: Judgment affirmed.

CASE SUMMARY:

OVERVIEW: HOLDINGS: [1]-Although the trial court should not have analyzed defendant's motion to withdraw his plea as one filed pursuant to Crim.R. 32.1, the trial court's error was harmless because, even under the proper analysis, he could not demonstrate that the trial court failed to comply with R.C. 2943.031(A); [2]-The trial court did not err in denying defendant's motion to withdraw guilty plea because the trial court personally informed defendant of the three immigration-related consequences of his plea and, thus, substantially complied with R.C. 2943.031(A).

Criminal Law & Procedure > Guilty Pleas > Changes & Withdrawals

[HN1] Although they seek the same result, motions to withdraw under Crim.R. 32.1 and R.C. 2943.031 are separate and distinct. A motion to withdraw a guilty plea filed under Crim.R. 32.1 requires a demonstration of manifest injustice in order to warrant withdrawal of the plea. A motion to withdraw under R.C. 2943.031 does not require such a demonstration.

Criminal Law & Procedure > Guilty Pleas > Allocution & Colloquy

Criminal Law & Procedure > Sentencing > Deportation & Removal

[HN2] R.C. 2943.031(A) requires a trial court to give the following advisement to defendants entering either a guilty plea or a plea of no contest unless the defendant indicates that he is a citizen in accordance with R.C. 2943.031(B): If you are not a citizen of the United States you are hereby advised that conviction of the offense to which you are pleading guilty may have the consequences of deportation, exclusion from admission to the United States, or denial of naturalization pursuant to the laws of the United States.

Criminal Law & Procedure > Sentencing > Deportation & Removal

Criminal Law & Procedure > Guilty Pleas > Allocution & Colloquy

Criminal Law & Procedure > Guilty Pleas > Changes & Withdrawals

[HN3] If a trial court provides some warning of immigration-related consequences at the time of a plea but not a verbatim recital of the warnings set forth in R.C. 2943.031, a trial court considering a motion to withdraw filed under the statute must determine whether the trial court's warning substantially complied with R.C. 2943.031(A). In this context, substantial compliance means that a defendant is informed and, under the totality of the circumstances, subjectively understands that by entering a guilty plea he may be subject to the three immigration-related consequences set forth in the statute.

CONFIDENTIAL

[*P1] Defendant-appellant, Baltazar J. Altunar, appeals from a judgment of the Franklin County Court of Common Pleas denying his motion to withdraw guilty plea. For the following reasons, we affirm that judgment.

I. Factual and Procedural Background

[*P2] On May 11, 2009, a Franklin County Grand Jury indicted appellant with six counts of aggravated vehicular assault, in violation of R.C. 2903.08, and two counts of operating a vehicle while under the influence of alcohol or drugs, in violation of R.C. 4511.19. Appellant initially entered a not guilty plea. Subsequently, however, appellant withdrew that plea and entered a guilty plea to three counts of aggravated vehicular assault. The trial court accepted appellant's guilty plea, found him guilty, and sentenced him accordingly. Appellant did not appeal his conviction or sentence.

[*P3] Two years later, appellant filed in the trial court, pursuant to R.C. 2943.031, a motion to [2] withdraw his guilty plea. Appellant is a Mexican national who, at the time of the offense, was living in the United States. He argued that the trial court did not advise him of the consequences a guilty plea could have on his status in this country as required by R.C. 2943.031. The trial court denied appellant's motion, construing it as a motion to withdraw pursuant to Crim.R. 32.1 and concluding that he failed to demonstrate a manifest injustice to warrant withdrawal under that rule.

II. The Appeal

[*P4] Appellant appeals and assigns the following errors¹:

I. The trial court erred as a matter of law in applying the "manifest injustice" requirement of Ohio criminal rule 32.1 to a motion to withdraw guilty plea filed pursuant to Ohio Revised Code 2943.031.

II. The trial court erred as a matter of law in refusing to comply with the mandatory language set forth in Ohio Revised Code 2943.031, where appellant made the showing that he is not a U.S. citizen and he was never advised of the fact that deportation was a consequence of the guilty plea by the court or counsel.

¹ Appellant apparently obtained counsel in order to file a reply brief in this appeal. To the extent that counsel raises additional [3] issues in that reply brief that had not been previously raised by either appellant or the state, we decline to address them. Hanlin-Rainaldi Constr. Corp. v. Jeepersl, Inc., 10th Dist. No. 03AP-851, 2004-Ohio-6250, ¶ 22; Capital One Bank (USA), NA v. Gordon, 8th Dist. No. 98953, 2013-Ohio-2095, ¶ 9.

[*P5] Because appellant's assignments of error both concern the trial court's denial of his motion to withdraw, we will address them together.

A. Appellant Filed a Motion to Withdraw Pursuant to R.C. 2943.031

[*P6] Appellant first contends that the trial court improperly analyzed his motion to withdraw as one filed under Crim.R. 32.1. We agree.

[*P7] [HN1] Although they seek the same result, motions to withdraw under Crim.R. 32.1 and R.C. 2943.031 are separate and distinct. A motion to withdraw a guilty plea filed under Crim.R. 32.1 requires a demonstration of manifest injustice in order to warrant withdrawal of the plea. A motion to withdraw under R.C. 2943.031 does not require such a demonstration. State v. Francis, 104 Ohio St.3d 490, 2004-Ohio-6894, ¶¶ 26-27, 820 N.E.2d 355; State v. Muhumed, 10th Dist. No. 11AP-1001, 2012-Ohio-6155, ¶ 9.

[*P8] The state concedes, and we agree, that the trial court erred when it analyzed appellant's [4] motion under Crim.R. 32.1. Appellant's motion was captioned a "Motion to Withdraw Guilty Plea Pursuant to Section 2943.031 of the Ohio Revised Code." The motion argued that his counsel and the trial court did not warn him of the deportation consequences of his plea and that if he had been so advised he would not have entered his guilty plea. Accordingly, the trial court should not have analyzed the motion as one filed pursuant to Crim.R. 32.1. We conclude, however, that the trial court's error is harmless, because even under the proper analysis, appellant cannot demonstrate that the trial court failed to comply with R.C. 2943.031(A). State v. Williamson, 2d Dist. No. 21965, 2008-Ohio-4727, ¶¶ 12-16 (concluding that the trial court's application of incorrect standard to review motion to withdraw was harmless error because, in part, the motion would not have been successful under correct standard); State v. Carswell, 9th Dist. No. 23119, 2006-Ohio-5210, ¶¶ 20-22 (no error in applying wrong standard to motion to withdraw where error did not prejudice defendant because the motion would not have been successful).

B. The trial court properly advised appellant pursuant to R.C. 2943.031

[*P9] [HN2] R.C. 2943.031(A) [5] requires a trial court to give the following advisement to defendants entering either a guilty plea or a plea of no contest unless the defendant indicates that he is a citizen in accordance with R.C. 2943.031(B):

If you are not a citizen of the United States you are hereby advised that conviction of the offense to which you are pleading guilty * * * may have the consequences of deportation, exclusion from admission to the United States, or denial of naturalization pursuant to the laws of the United States.

[*P10] At his plea hearing, appellant told the trial court (through an interpreter) that he was not a citizen of the United States. (Tr. 6.) The trial court then advised appellant that:

by entering pleas of guilty today, that that could -- since you are not a United States citizen, that you may suffer the consequence of deportation, exclusion from readmission to the United States or denial of naturalization or citizenship pursuant to our laws. So this can have a serious effect upon your status in this county.

(Tr. 7.)

[*P11] Appellant indicated that he understood the advisement. Additionally, the entry of guilty plea form that appellant signed before entering his plea also advised him that his conviction [6] "may have the consequences of deportation, exclusion from admission to the United States, or denial of naturalization pursuant to the laws of the United States."

[*P12] [HN3] If a trial court provides some warning of immigration-related consequences at the time of a plea but not a verbatim recital of the warnings set forth in R.C. 2943.031, a trial court considering a motion to withdraw filed under the statute must determine whether the trial court's warning substantially complied with R.C. 2943.031(A). Francis at ¶ 48. In this context, substantial compliance means that a defendant is informed and, under the totality of the circumstances, subjectively understands that by entering a guilty plea he may be subject to the three immigration-related consequences set forth in the statute. State v. Batista, 10th Dist. No. 03AP-1009, 2004-Ohio-5066, ¶ 7; Muhumed at ¶ 38.

[*P13] Here, although quite similar, the trial court did not quote the statutory advisement verbatim. The trial court did, however, personally inform appellant of the three immigration-related consequences of his plea. Additionally, appellant indicated that he understood the warnings. Based on the totality of these circumstances, the trial court [7] substantially complied with R.C. 2943.031(A). Accordingly, the trial court did not err in denying appellant's motion to withdraw guilty plea and we overrule his two assignments of error.

III. Conclusion

[*P14] Having overruled appellant's two assignments of error, we affirm the judgment of the Franklin County Court of Common Pleas.

Judgment affirmed.
