

Recent Press

AVIATIONWEEK
Daily Updates, Access Anywhere

WheelTug Begins E-Taxi Certification And Promises Pushback Savings

Graham Warwick | Aviation Week & Space Technology

EMAIL SHARE Tweet G+1 f Recommend 94 COMMENTS

WheelTug has begun work to complete development of its electric taxi system, after the FAA signed off on its certification plan. Aiming for FAA approval on the Boeing 737NG by late 2018, the system is focusing on the benefit to airlines of time savings during

A push please
Motorised nose wheels will let planes leave gates by themselves

14 Dec 2017

The Economist

FlightGlobal

WheelTug reveals timeframe for planned service entry

Electric taxi specialist WheelTug expects its nose wheel drive

LE JOURNAL DE L'AVIATION
AEROSPACE CONTACT

WheelTug entame son programme de certification avec le feu vert de la FAA

Emilie Drab

ATW AIR TRANSPORT WORLD
Premium News, Analysis, and Data Insights

WheelTug touts taxi system's time savings

Graham Warwick | ATW Plus

EMAIL SHARE Tweet G+1 f Recommend 7 COMMENTS

RELATED MEDIA

Gallery: WheelTug electric taxi system

WheelTug has begun work to complete development of its electric taxi system after FAA

AVIATIONPROS

WheelTug Receives FAA Go-Ahead for Airplane E-Taxi System Certification Plans

SOURCE: WHEELTUG PLC JAN 11, 2017

HOSPODÁŘSKÉ NOVINY

Pražské letiště může mít jako první na světě převratnou novinku v pohybu letadel po ploše

Marek Miller - redaktor 12. 12. 2016 00:00 (aktualizováno 12-26) Události 10