Subject: FW: MD approval for ACUs completed for High Risk Clients [I]

Classification: For internal use only

Hi Andrew,

In an effort to ensure that you have to approve only 1 email, I sent the below email, in hindsight I should have been more careful about not ccing all the Bankers on the email. I apologize for the inconvenience caused.

However I still need the approval from you. Could you please approve the below High Risk ACUs which were completed?

As I mentioned in the below email, this is the last email based approval I will be needing from you.

Regards,

Vaishali Mehta

Subject: MD approval for ACUs completed for High Risk Clients [I]

Dear Andrew ,

All the below ACUs were completed for High Risk clients for this month. As you know the new Policy now requires an MD Approval over and above the approval of the account owner / RM. Which means if the RM is an MD, the approval must come from another MD who is in their reporting line.

In that regard, could you please approve the below ACUs?

Lundberg, Fredrik

Andrew Gallivan

2/27/2017

Fredrik Lundberg (born August 5, 1951) is a Swedish businessman. His father was Lars Erik Lundberg (1920-2001) founder of L E Lundbergföretagen. Fredrik Lundberg is president and CEO of L E Lundbergföretagen, of which he inherited a controlling stake from his father. He is the ninth wealthiest person in Sweden, according to Forbes magazine. In 1944, when Lars Erik Lundberg - Frederik's father - was only 24, he formed the company that was later to become Lundbergs in his apartment in Norrköping. This company engaged in construction operations and focused on residential building. At an early stage, Lars Erik Lundberg started to show an interest in investing in proprietary properties, having understood the value represented by expansion into an additional business sector, real estate management. This move created greater stability in the company, which could gradually reduce its dependence on construction operations. It is this foundation upon which Fastighets AB L E Lundberg's property operations rest today. At the end of the 1970s, Lundbergs began to consider a further expansion of the group's operations and, during the 1980s, a series of investments were made within new industries. Finance companies were acquired and developed, as were several smaller industrial companies. Investments were also made in certain publicly listed companies. The group's operations became increasingly diversified and, during the second half of the 1980s, it was decided that investments outside the core area of construction and real estate operations would be concentrated in a limited number of publicly listed companies. In 1983, the shares in Lundbergs, with Lars Erik Lundberg's son Fredrik Lundberg as President and CEO, were listed on the Stockholm Stock Exchange. From its original status as a wholly owned family company, the step was now fully taken into the glare of the public eye. However, the Lundberg family retained a clear majority holding in the Company. Accordingly, during its first 60 years, Lundbergs has developed from a construction company to an investment company with interests in several different areas.
