Cool. And given his tax situation I think he's basically indifferent between govy yield and corporate yield.

So worst case right now he would get 1.8% in a DBNY sweep account. We are offering 2.3% for new $ through January. Let me confirm that applies to sweep accounts and then sort it out with Paul. What would they need to sign?

Thanks. What does DWGI yield? And is there any revenue associated with it?
