

Subject: FA News: CFP Board Considers Postponing Enforcement Of Fiduciary Code
From: Financial Advisor Magazine <[REDACTED]>
Date: Wed, 10 Jul 2019 09:39:38 -0400
To: [REDACTED]

View in browser

July 10, 2019

CFP Board Considers Postponing Enforcement Of Fiduciary Code

The new standards could impact thousands of CFPs at broker-dealers and hybrid firms.

The 10 Best States For Your Summer Road Trips

More than $761 billion is spent on leisure travel every year.

Why Clients Should Discuss Their DAF Accounts With Their Successor Advisors

About 75 percent of successor advisors were surprised by their responsibilities to donor-advised fund accounts.

Schwab Grows Its Commission-Free ETF Lineup

Schwab now allows investors to trade 539 ETFs commission free.

Tax Reform Toughens Home-Office Deduction For Wealthy Clients

High-net-worth clients will have a harder time claiming the home-office deduction under the new law.

Hedge Funds Post Best First Half In Decade

Hedge fund managers were buoyed by a strong first half for U.S. equities.

The Masses Are Drawn Toward Funds Chasing Real Estate Tax Breaks

Wealthy investors are attracted by the tax breaks offered by qualified opportunity zone funds.

Not All Gold Bugs Wear Tinfoil Hats

There's a rational argument for holding gold, despite its reputation as a refuge for doomsayers.

If You Flew Epstein's 'Lolita Express' Private Jet—The Feds Want To Talk To You

Passengers on the fund manager's jet include politicians, business leaders and celebrities.

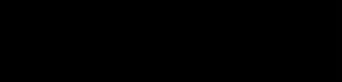

Sovereign Wealth Funds Love Bonds Now. But Why?

For the first time since 2015, sovereign wealth funds owned more fixed-income assets than equities.

Dorothy Hinchcliff
Executive Editor, FA Online

Sandra Croce
Associate Publisher – Digital

{Facebook}

{LinkedIn}

Unsubscribe

Subscribe

Print Subscription

© 2019 Charter Financial Publishing Network, 499 Broad Street, Suite 120,
Shrewsbury, NJ 07702

You are receiving this email because you signed up to receive emails from us on our website.

All Rights Reserved.