
Classification: Confidential

Looping in Vinit here as he was recently involved with a large offering in the pdvsa credit and may have some take-aways.

My view is the bonds are money good in 2015, as of now, but you are not looking for yield carry (as discussed), and the risks of restructuring and near-term downside due to politics specific to venezuela and chatter around EM assets at large are likely greater than implied by the bonds' current ~85 levels; would use Friday's rally to sell (particularly if you believe it was rates driven vs credit). For what it's worth, we've found Latam family offices that are very familiar the credit (and do like carry) are fully loaded and do not have incremental demand.

--

Tazia Smith
Director
Key Client Partners - US

Deutsche Bank Securities, Inc.
Deutsche Asset & Wealth Management
345 Park Avenue - 26th Floor
New York, NY 10154

From: Jeffrey Epstein [jeevacation@gmail.com]
Sent: 01/12/2014 04:56 PM AST
To: Tazia Smith
Subject: Re: PVDSA chart + USDJPY Trade [C]

do you think money good in 15

On Sun, Jan 12, 2014 at 4:38 PM, Tazia Smith < > wrote:
Classification: Confidential

Jeffrey:

Please find the chart of PDVSA 5% 10/28/15 price history below, as well as a description of the USDJPY 10yr trade that we briefly discussed on Friday.

Speak with you soon,
Tazia