

Table Of Contents

Summary	3
Negative year in prospect but relative underperformance should slow	3
Valuations & Margins	13
Why emerging equities are not as cheap as they appear to be in aggregate ...	13
Taper versus governance	18
BRICs at most risk of 'classic' EM crisis based on dysfunctional relationship between state and companies	18
Still bearish on China	21
Positive sentiment overdone given risks of debt trap in corporate sector and local government	21
Country conclusions	25
ASIA EX-JAPAN	25
China – corporate sector risks are rising	25
Korea – not as good as overseas investors believe	27
Taiwan – defensive merits no longer unappreciated	28
India – range bound until post-election outlook clearer	29
Indonesia – first stress test since 1997; equities expensive	31
Malaysia – low-beta but fundamentally without merit	33
Thailand – tempting only to a tactical contrarian	34
Philippines – superior fundamentals more than priced in	35
LATIN AMERICA	37
Brazil – cheap but fundamentals continue to deteriorate	37
Mexico – expensive but still better than the alternatives	39
Chile – continued breakdown of the neo-liberal model	41
CEEMEA	42
South Africa – cheap currency but expensive equities	42
Russia – cheap but fundamentals remain very negative	43
Turkey - risk reward has improved at current levels	45
Poland – still defensive in GEM context	47