jeffrey, we are working on a live situation with a pharma company that is looking to finance the distribution and sales of a newly approved drug. DB is bidding on the debt financing and would need to syndicate out ~$50mm to a third party. I expect the transaction to be structured as a royalty arrangement and imagine yields would be in the low double digits. I know you've done equity transactions in biotech area over the years but thought you may have someone interested in a discussion with our structured credit team to see if this would be a fit? Let's catch up soon.

Hope all is well,
