

An aerial, black and white photograph of a city skyline. The central focus is a very tall, slender skyscraper with a spire at the top. A thin white line extends from the text 'LEVELS 109-126' to a specific section of this skyscraper. The surrounding city is filled with various other high-rise buildings of different shapes and sizes. The sky is filled with clouds, and the overall lighting suggests a bright day, possibly near sunrise or sunset.
