

Confidential Due Diligence Report

1988, when powerhouse agency Next opened its doors, Brunel took an ownership stake. He also "discovered" [REDACTED] when she was 14. [REDACTED] is only his latest venture. Because no criminal charges were ever filed by any of his accusers, and because the industry has a short memory " most models working today weren't even born when Sawyer and Pyes started looking into Brunel's activities " Brunel has been free to continue as he pleases. A French citizen, he even avoided testifying in his friend Epstein's trial.

And so Brunel is still criss-crossing the globe, trawling for 5'10" 13-year-olds from Eastern Europe and (the whiter parts of) South America. And apparently taking the occasional ride with them on Epstein's private jet. Is there any better argument for the regulation of the modeling industry?
