I thought that i would propose a framework, for both the gates foundation and other introductions.. Jes suggested using as a metric, some other money raising operations and at least for gates enhnacing it. I think that the range of financial compensation , could for gates, be close to what JPM charged leon for raising money,, for an already existing well known operation,, jpm asked leon for 4-5 % for money. , some charities pay between 10-15% for deveolpment.as the funds are used for charity, . new funds that charge 2 and 20 give away , 1 and 5 . The fees could be paid over time , so as not to impact dollaors immediately. I think in general between 10-20% of fees generated by what we could refer to as Epstein introduced clients. or some such,
