Epstein - Data Tape
- list of ...

Rich and Darren,

As per our conversation, attached is the list of account names that were on the data tape from year 2006. The data tape contained social security and tax identification numbers, names and addresses. It did not contain any account numbers, balances or account activity. At this point there is no evidence that the data from the tape was used inappropriately, nor do we believe that this information will be accessed by anyone since special hardware and software is required to access the data. A letter will be received on the personal accounts in which individuals are eligible for Chase Identity Protection. "CIP" will offer free credit monitoring for one year. Please let me know if you have any further questions.

Best Regards,
