One of our production company researchers found you and I'm connecting you regarding an upcoming aviation travel show. We are working with one of the top travel network companies, RIVR MEDIA, known for its long history of successful shows that may be found at: www.rivr.com

Should you have an interest and then be selected, above-industry television compensation would be offered. We have an excellent team in place, including a highly respected veteran captain. We're looking for another pilot as part of this series. If you're interested, please let me know and provide a contact information. Thank you for your considerations.
