Did you get efficient care
12:44:42 am

Doctor knew of me . Had to register as new patient . Clean - 1 hr - 01:42:54 am

a week of being bled, (test) pricked (allergy test) , dilated (eyes) , probed. (finger , wand , prostate , rodded (parasite) biopsied, (rash) scanned. (cat and ultrasound injected ., EKG , .

Erythema ab igne is the culprit .

11:17:47 am

the reduced urine stream in unconnected as is the angio edema

That is a reaction to heat in your case it is from infection generates same reaction as does some allergies that is why warm and cold agglutins are helpful

11:22:50 am

no, it is from the hot water bottle . that the girlfriend sleeps with on her back . I'm certain

11:23:36 am

is the low urine stream a result of the nasal de congestants. ? or prostate enlargement

11:24:26 am

did you get the final results for the testosterone?

11:27:04 am

Bruce Moscovitz

Heat in normal individuals without a precipitating etiology does not cause this. In two weeks when there are no agglutins Try heat. The stream is from Claritin most likely

11:39:27 am

BM

did we ever get the agultin or lupus panel

05:16:55 pm

Bruce Moscovitz

Lupus negative

05:30:42 pm

BM

is there a blood test that shows histamine levels ? the last ige serum was very high, but i have no clue.

05:34:03 pm

the only thing we know for sure is high triglerides and low testosterone. . diet exercise . I assume aspirin, statin/ ?

05:35:09 pm

Bruce Moscovitz

BM

The test is false level until infection is gone

did we do a prolactin and endocrine panel. - ? symptoms mirror high prolactin
. this showed many years ago , when you found the high pth

10:42:06 am to sum it up, separate from the cultured out GC, urine stream , libido. every level , no change. we haven't found the cause yet

10:45:41 am

Bruce Moscovitz

Prolactin 3.7 normal have done several since this is most important cause

10:47:56 am

BM

Testosterone replacement is an option

11:14:07 am

do you have a few on clomiphene instead ?
