On the stone: it has been in the family of Harry Winston, who sold it to the current owner 12 years ago. The Gem Institute in NYC , who issued the certificate can be contacted for the provenance. The owner lives in London, and does not want it to be known that it is for sale.

Working on it. Have to get hold of my events manager to fit it in so that our thing does not collide with the high level events at UN where everybody have to be. Because of week end I might not get a full overview before Monday morning, and thinking of guest lists. Shall I think about one or two dinners? IPI Middle East dinner is on the 17 September. We have a bit of trouble with the date, because many FMs do not arrive before 18,19. Most will then stay for the rest of the week. Working on names for our stuff, but will have to check availability. What is the ideal number for dinner(s)?

The owner agrees that you talk of it as you offered this morning. But is happy to keep as discreet as possible and not to disclose the provenance at this stage. The owner knows that the best informed will probably understand immediately but wants as much discretion as possible. Thanks. If I am not clear, forgive me and happy to discuss. But main message is that we have a go. Best. Olivier

This is the text I sent to Humphrey

It answers his question which was: am I allowed to talk about the item to people saying "it's a 19...blue...etc" ?

The problem here is the ambiguity of the role of this American woman

I did not give mandate to Humphrey to sell. For me he is part of the American woman's team and I answered candidly his question re authorisation to talk about the item

Thanks Terje for your calls

04:52:23 pm

This says Humphrey has a go. He should be clear he does not have any go. Except to talk to you and [REDACTED]. No discussion. With third parties

04:54:42 pm

Terje

He is on board plane now. Will call him as soon as he lands.

Humphrey, I believe there is a misunderstanding somewhere that we need to lift. When you asked me if you were allowed to talk about the item (and describe its main features), I took it for granted that it was within the frame of discussions that your American friend and you had already engaged. After getting approval from the owner, I said it was a go to talk about it with the people you are in touch with along with the American lady. So I think it's important at this point to clarify that the item is not on the market and shall not be presented outside of this frame. There is some ambiguity there that I would rather address. I'm sorry for any problem that this ambiguity might have created. All the best. Olivier

I then replied with "perfect!"
