

2018/01/24

Hey Uncle F, I had a theoretical question for you
03:57:45 am

?
04:01:33 am

Yes
10:54:52 am

2018/01/25

Sorry for the delayed response, very hectic day at school.

My question is the following: Why is it socially acceptable to be a transgender and not a transracial individual? In other words, if I woke up tomorrow and claimed I am a woman living in a man's body, I would be accepted for that. In fact, I would be heralded to a degree, dubbed as being brave for coming out. However, if tomorrow morning, I came out and claimed I was a black man living in a white man's body, I would not be accepted and in fact would receive immense backlash, especially from the black community. (ie. Rachel Dolezal) So my question is, why is that the case? In my opinion race and gender are both forms of identity rooted in biology, so in that way are very similar.

02:31:58 am

Fashion
12:15:46 pm

Next - like in the old days people will channel animals . (not gorilla s:)

12:17:14 pm

✓ Sent

Haha

05:48:18 pm

✓ Read