Just so ready to leave the Bank

02:50:32 am

Was hoping to have some time to talk to you about strategy for leaving and making transition out - like what actually to do - MasterCard could be director (full time) or fellow or even a JV project w them. Could also try to build around a FINTECH idea w support from folks like Marc andreesen and push to Africa. Could do some real science across SRI and Stanford (science for noninvasive biopsy = no more biopsy = probably Nobel prize and at least a TED talk). Or could work on just health at Msft. Or try to get Larry Summers to help me w Sheryl Sandburg and a job at Facebook. Dunno.

Help me get this right. I want to make money and don't see it clearly. Willing to take another step or two to figure it out but need to be thoughtful. Those are options as I see them but one big question...

Is it ok to take a few months break without a real job (between stuff) or does that look too fake and will it be too hard?
