Hi there ... decided it was just time for me to move on from the Bank. My 3 year anniversary (Feb 1) will be my last day. Worked super hard to get a grown up senior management team for Jim and get his second term secured. Some other stuff too - but mostly feel like stuff in a good place and a perfect time to jump off.

I know this sounds horrible but I want to be a little more selfish. No idea what's next but optimistic that I can settle in to something a little less political and a lot more productive.

Made the announcement yesterday at the same time as the announcement for our new CEO figuring it was the exact right moment.

Yay.
06:25:55 pm

Great
07:43:38 pm

Hope so. Am so ready to be out of international development!
07:55:52 pm

Creativity and innovation feel like a way better place to be.
07:56:11 pm

Would really like to take a year to think and explore and get board certified in endovascular neurosurgery I.

08:01:54 pm

Need to do 200 cases.

08:02:06 pm

WANT TO.

08:02:12 pm

Just not sure what is next. Maybe working got Elon Musk or some other forward thinking person who is interested in brains.

What new CEO?

12:58:09 pm

We replaced our COO w a CEO

01:34:50 pm

She's super cool and v good

01:35:05 pm

We now have 3 CEOs (bank, IFC, Miga) reporting in to the president (jim) - it's a really good thing for the Bank group

Yes- Does she do brain stuff? Like a scientist?

09:20:53 pm

Hard space

09:21:30 pm

If you were me what would you do

09:25:04 pm

Hopefully have done a good job and built up a lot of good will

At a place now where people who can help are asking me how they can help

09:33:20 pm

I haven't asked

09:33:25 pm

Science and tech and stuff I know (brains) more my space

09:33:47 pm

IFC (private arm of bank) wants me
To come be their CTO

09:39:53 pm

Just not Sure I want to be in the public space ever again but I really don't want to be in the academic one. Ready for either private sector or practicing medicine or Something better
