Yes.... thank you. I guess I already knew that.
But when you look at you phone, somehow it is clear "you don't know...".
Plus I was thinking something much more automatic.... Like thinking 1245x3458 and that the answer comes automatically

No
09:21:46 pm

Astrid Gil-Casares (+ [redacted])

Automatically, automatic....
Or that it fucking corrects you automatically when you automatically repeat the same word...

Machine don't think
09:22:55 pm

Astrid Gil-Casares (+ [redacted])

They will think. Or do something similar.

Just that when I silently ask a question (through brainwaves) it "automatically" gives me the answer.

Or.... assuming (or not assuming because unfortunately it is the reality) that I have to "write" that kind of book....
What should I "try" to introduce that would make it "bearably" interesting?
