Paul Allen?
01:12:29 am

His CEO was really nice. Says he's trying to get a handle on all the businesses. Asked me to stay in touch/said he would love to have me join in some capacity but wasn't sure what, asked if I would take him to watch one of our surgeries etc. some warning signs that he is talking to a ton of the "philanthropy" types and seems a little drawn to the trappings of the word of his principal more than the work.

Feels like a dead end to me. Not just bc of the team but also the direction he's hoping to go. The key key roles are filled and the incumbents seem very deeply entrenched. And territorial.

02:45:00 am

Another worrying sign was that he was talking a lot about how it was to deal w his boss.

How are YOU?

I did my first transradial aneurysm on Wednesday was so awesome. Tony little incision like an IV in the wrist and fixed an anterior communicating artery aneurysm so crazy.

Yes

Well I'm going to stop emailing BG and trying to make contact and ask about future support or anything else. After waiting a few days as you suggest I sent him a note every few days as you suggested asking if he wanted more information or what he thought. Nov 1 was about a month. I then sent him mail Sunday nights for about a month - including this past Sunday. Haven't heard a word from him since our last conversation and he asked me to follow up on a few things (which i did) as we discussed.

Monday I sent he and larry an email I reintroducing ed boyden and trying to get ed some time w BG and larry replied and will hopefully find some time (ed was copied).

I guess I need to move on and assume he doesn't want to support me or changed his kind about the idea or something. Just thought you'd want closure on this.

Up to you

No magic wand to make ppl nicer or more accountable for their actions I'm afraid. Some folks seem to be beyond all justice systems too. Well except maybe for karma.
