Why do plants make endorphins

10:27:28 pm

[Redacted]

To lull the animal that eats it into doing its bidding

10:28:15 pm

[Redacted]

What's its bidding

10:37:28 pm

Move seeds?

10:37:38 pm

[Redacted]

Don't know. Feeding it? Moving it/ digesting it and use as fertilizer

10:38:07 pm

[Redacted]

We are missing something

10:39:37 pm

[Redacted]

Im aware

10:39:45 pm

Why do we produce them

10:40:01 pm

o

Scientists say to mediate pain but I dont think so

10:41:40 pm

They are produced after a major stress

10:41:52 pm

I think it helps slow down other neurotransmitters to preserve energy after a stressor

10:42:24 pm

o

Maybe to allow repair

10:42:25 pm

o

Yes

10:42:32 pm

Pain is interesting

Makes me wonder if all moving things feel

Powerful stimulus to move

10:43:10 pm

But maybe as humans we have fear and emotion associated w it

Like if you didn't have an amygdala would pain be just like any other stimulus

10:43:39 pm

Was reading about neurotransmitters in FUNGI

10:44:04 pm

Weird
Some have
10:44:09 pm

Probably most have
10:44:19 pm

I think bottom line in nervous system vs no nervous system is that animals have synapses
10:45:06 pm

Same otherwise
10:45:11 pm

Plants might through roots at different time scales and activation potentials
10:45:45 pm

Sort of
10:46:15 pm

I get the time scale but their time to fire is same
10:46:32 pm

Milliseconds for the channels to fire
10:47:56 pm

Hoping we can image some of this Writing up a proposal to you and still trying to find a plant biologist to collaborate

10:48:35 pm

Will keep trying
10:48:42 pm

No, don't think about firing/. Think about activation
