sorry, but you need to understand that we cannot go back and forth , very often with assistants requirements . lesley was told to bring you, then change and then change and then change. that is not how we work. there are many people that need to be coordinated and if each one decides that their requirements take priority and change ,then the travel alone takes more time than she has to devote to it. sorry. It is important in real biz, to as you and i discussed , just try to follow directions in the begging. . when she organized your ticket , if i were you , i would have said ok. and be done. I think you have great potential so i am spending the time explaining the reasons for delay now

11:03:08 am

Yes I feel bad about it too. I am sorry I , this will not happen again
