Hello [REDACTED],

I am copying my client [REDACTED] on this email. Juliette is an Epstein victim that has retained my firm for representation. [REDACTED] would like to be including in any notifications being issued by the United States Government. She is presently living in South Africa and I have included her address below. She has a small child that would need to travel with her to attend any victim's meeting. As we discussed, to the extent you can be helpful with providing her information about getting a visa and other travel arrangements for [REDACTED] and her daughter such that they might be able to attend the victim's meeting she would be interested in learning that information.
