I put this on twitter.

Stop saying [REDACTED] was killed. You are scaring the shit out of the other victims. I've been calming down panicked women all day.

This isn't some joke. THINK before you write stuff. These are real people. Virginia has a family. I really hate conspiracy kooks.

You do not know the full extent of this story. Trust me you don't. And you don't have to but you do know that you don't know so stop flippantly guessing just because it good for the memes.

I swear our social society is pure rot. People will do anything for clicks. Stop monetizing other people's suffering. Virginia was absolutely heart broken. Devistatingly hallowed.

She is a huge reason why Epstein and Maxwell and Brunel all landed behind bars and why prince Andrew lost 16 million. She did great damage to the pedophile network. But they also did great damage to her. Don't lie about her life or her death.

She had kidney problems and that's not related to the bus accident. It's just something they discovered because of the accident.

She wasn't doing well that's all I will say. And it was not a surprise to me at all that she took her own life. She had a 5 year nightmare with serial rapists. Honor what she did. She took them down.

It damaged her. Other things did too but this this was a broken and rebuilt person. She jailed 3 of them and sued others. She brought closure to hundreds of women. She took on a team of lawyers with nothing and won. Never forget her courage and sacrifice.

RIP
