In June 2019 I was assigned the Epstein case as it was a 31 minor trafficking case; and had been working with the case agent [REDACTED] on it for at least 6 months. I had no idea who Jeffrey Epstein was nor how high profile it was going to be until [REDACTED] called me stating [REDACTED] went to her stating that this was her case even when she knew I am assigned all 31 cases. After I spoke to [REDACTED], I received a call from the [REDACTED] telling me [REDACTED] is to not to touch this case as it is high profile and doesn't want her near this. I had to travel several times for this case and both [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] refused to cover for me while I was on official travel. This was another example of they only wanted to work high profile cases and that agents and supervisors did not want them to assist due to their unprofessional behavior, skills and hostile behavior.
