Eileen P. Guggenheim *82

University Trustee Eileen P. Guggenheim *82 does not know quite when to begin when asked to recall her most memorable experiences as a student in art and archaeology at Princeton, so she offers an inform

She mentions the distinguished faculty members she learned from. Kurt Weitzmann, the great scholar of Byzantine art, and Peter C. Bunnell, David Hunter Professor of the History of Photography and Modern Art, Emeritus. She cites the access to the expert curators and rich materials of the Princeton University Art Museum. She discusses working with undergraduates, whose exuberance serves as a nice balance to the quiet scholarship. And she emphasizes how much the small size of classes and programs means to other students. "Every encounter with a professor was intimate — and that makes all the difference in an education," she says.

Guggenheim should know, because her busy, post-Princeton career—she taught at the school for three years after receiving her PhD—has been devoted in good measure to promoting traditional art education. With a handful of others in the early 1980s, she launches the New York Academy of Art, which thrives today in its mission of teaching traditional skills to artists—thereby helping to reinvigorate representational and figurative art. She taught at the school, was dean and professor of development there, and today is special adviser to its board of trustees.

Moreover, her interest in art education extends beyond U.S. borders. In recent years, Guggenheim worked on the start-up of a new drawing school, founded by Prince Charles, in London. She is a trustee of the Prince of Wales's foundation for urban design and architecture. Guggenheim takes her transatlantic work seriously enough that in 2001 she earned a masters degree from Tufts University's Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy.

Guggenheim is married to Russell C. Wilkinson, and their daughter Isabel C. Wilkinson, of the Class of 2008. Named a trustee in 2003, she carves out a lot of time for Princeton in her other capacities. Guggenheim is a leader in the Graduate Alumni Annual Giving effort, and her most recent campaign raised a record amount. She has worked extensively on behalf of the Board of Trustees and is chair of the Trustees' Alumni Affairs Committee. Her other roles range from the Women in Leadership steering committee to volunteering in career services.

Volunteer

She sees her work, she says, as "returning the favor" to Princeton. "Education, and part education, is the most important thing there is," Guggenheim says. "Princeton is a remai and it is sustained by the people who received a great education there—and then decid back."

Princeton University names six new trustees

PRINCETON, N.J. -- Princeton University has named six new members of its Board of Trustees. The board elected Peter Lewis, James McDonnell III and Louise O'Brien to four-year terms as term trustees. Princeton alumni elected three board members, Eileen Guggenheim, Olivier Kamanda and Rajiv Vinnakota, also to four-year terms.

The Board of Trustees is responsible for the finances and funds of the University. It approves the operating and capital budgets, supervises the investment of the University's endowment and oversees campus real estate and long-range physical planning. The trustees also exercise prior review and approval concerning changes in major policies, such as those in instructional programs and admission, as well as tuition and fees and the hiring of faculty members.

Following is information about Princeton's new trustees:

Eileen Guggenheim, of New York, is an educator and philanthropist who currently serves as vice chair of the Prince's Foundation, an organization founded by the Prince of Wales in London. She also is founder and president of the Villore Foundation, a philanthropic organization that supports educational institutions in the arts internationally. Guggenheim is the first graduate alumna elected to the board from a slate of candidates not solely comprised of graduate alumni.

Guggenheim earned her doctoral degree in art and archaeology from Princeton in 1982. She began teaching while at Princeton and went on to pursue a career in education, helping to found what is now the New York Academy of Arts. In her many years with the academy, she served as a professor and head of art history, dean of students and vice president of development. She currently is a special adviser to its Board of Trustees.

Olivier Kamanda, who graduated from Princeton in June, majored in operations research and financial engineering. Kamanda, of Chevy Chase, Md., was elected a "young alumni trustee" by recent graduates and upperclassmen.

He has served as vice president, class senator and minority issues action committee chair of the Undergraduate Student Government. As founder and coordinator of the Ideas in Action Lecture Series, Kamanda has sought to address social awareness and increased student involvement in political and social issues. He also has served as editor of Kruller Literary Describe your relationship with Mr. Epstein.

How long have you known Mr. Epstein? How did you meet?

What was your role at the New York Academy of the Arts?

What was Epstein's involvement with the NYAA?

Did Epstein express any interest in one particular style of artwork or interest in a specific artist attending NYAA?

Did any NYAA students work for Mr. Epstein or yourself?

Were there ever any complaints filed against Mr. Epstein by young female students while he was active with the NYAA?

Did Mr. Epstein ever show any noticeable attention or exhibit any questionable or inappropriate behavior towards young females while he was involved with the NYAA? (Believed to have brought a young female as his date to a formal function sponsored by NYAA)

Did Mr. Epstein leave the NYAA on good terms?

Did any of the students paint portraits of any of your family members during this time period? (██████████ painted portraits of ██████████) When? Where?

What did the art depict?

When was your last contact with Mr. Epstein? What was it in reference too?

History

1929–30 At age sixty-six, the wealthy American industrialist Solomon R. Guggenheim begins to form a large collection of important modern paintings by artists such as Vasily Kandinsky, Paul Klee, and Marc Chagall. He is guided in this pursuit by a young German artist and theorist, Hilla Rebay (born Baroness Hilla Rebay von Ehrenwiesen). In July 1930, Rebay brings Guggenheim to Vasily Kandinsky's Dessau studio, and Guggenheim purchases several of the artist's paintings and works on paper; he will eventually acquire more than 150 works by Kandinsky.

1930s Guggenheim's growing collection is installed in his private apartment at the Plaza Hotel in New York. Small exhibitions of newly acquired works are held there intermittently for the public. Rebay organizes a landmark loan exhibition entitled Solomon R. Guggenheim Collection of Non-Objective Paintings, which travels to Charleston, South Carolina; Philadelphia; and Baltimore.

1937 The Solomon R. Guggenheim Foundation is formed for the "promotion and encouragement and education in art and the enlightenment of the public." Chartered by the Board of Regents of New York State, the Foundation is endowed to operate one or more museums. Solomon Guggenheim is elected the first President of the Foundation, and Rebay is appointed its Curator.

1938 At age forty, Peggy Guggenheim, Solomon's niece, opens Guggenheim Jeune, a commercial art gallery in London representing such avant-garde artists as Jean Cocteau, Kandinsky, and Yves Tanguy. Initially advised by Herbert Read and Marcel Duchamp, she soon begins to amass her own important collection of Surrealist and abstract art.

1939 Under the auspices of the Solomon R. Guggenheim Foundation, the Museum of Non-Objective Painting opens in rented quarters at 24 East Fifty-fourth Street. Under Rebay's direction, the museum—decorated with pleated gray velour on the walls and thick gray carpeting, and featuring recorded classical music and incense—showcases Solomon's collection of American and European abstract artists.

1942 Peggy opens Art of This Century, a unique gallery-museum on Fifty-seventh Street in New York, designed by Frederick Kiesler. The inaugural installation features her own collection displayed in unconventional ways. Over the next five years, Peggy mounts dozens of important exhibitions devoted to European and American artists such as Giorgio de Chirico, Robert Motherwell, Jackson Pollock, and Mark Rothko.

1943 Solomon and Rebay commission Frank Lloyd Wright to design a permanent structure to house the Museum of Non-Objective Painting. Over the next fifteen years, Wright will make some 700 sketches, and six separate sets of working drawings, for the building. The Foundation acquires a tract of land between East Eighty-eighth and Eighty-ninth Streets on Fifth Avenue, but construction is delayed until 1956 for various reasons, foremost among them postwar inflation.

1949 One year after Peggy exhibits her now fabled collection of Cubist, Surrealist, and European abstract painting and sculpture at the Venice Biennale, she purchases the Palazzo Venier dei Leoni on Venice's Grand Canal, installs her collection there, and opens it to the public. She establishes the Peggy Guggenheim Foundation to operate and endow the museum.

1952 Rebay resigns and James Johnson Sweeney is named Director of the museum. The name of the Museum of Non-Objective Painting is changed to the Solomon R. Guggenheim Museum to designate it as a memorial to its founder, who died in 1949, and to signify a shift toward a broader view of modern and contemporary art. Under Sweeney, the Foundation purchases several sculptures by Constantin Brancusi and other important artists whose work does not fall within the category of non-objective art.

1959 The museum opens to an enthusiastic public on October 21, just six months after Wright's death. From the beginning, the relationship between the breathtaking architecture of the building and the art it was built to display inspires controversy and debate. One critic writes that the museum "has turned out to be the most beautiful building in America . . . never for a minute dominating the pictures being shown," while another insists that the structure is "less a museum than it is a monument to Frank Lloyd Wright."

1961 One year after the resignation of Sweeney, Thomas M. Messer is appointed Director of the Solomon R. Guggenheim Museum. He will remain in that position for twenty-seven years, during which time he greatly expands the collection and establishes the Guggenheim as a world-class institution known for its art scholarship and special exhibitions.

1963 The Solomon R. Guggenheim Foundation receives a major portion of Justin K. Thannhauser's renowned personal collection of Impressionist, Post-Impressionist, and early modern art. Over the years, Thannhauser and his widow, Hilde, will give the Guggenheim more than seventy works, including thirty-four by Picasso alone. This donation greatly enlarges the scope of the collection to include painting of the nineteenth century, beginning with Camille Pissaro's The Hermitage at Pontois. Under the terms of the gift, the Thannhauser Collection is on permanent view at the Solomon R. Guggenheim Museum.

1976 Peggy Guggenheim transfers ownership of her collection to the Solomon R. Guggenheim Foundation with the understanding that the works of art will remain in Venice. Peggy dies in 1979 and the Foundation takes ownership of the palazzo. Thomas M. Messer is appointed Director of the Peggy Guggenheim Collection in addition to his role overseeing the New York museum, and he supervises a major effort to conserve and document the Venice holdings. In 1980, Messer is named Director of the Solomon R. Guggenheim Foundation.

1988 Thomas Krens succeeds Messer as Director of the Foundation. Krens takes charge of an expansion program already underway in New York, which will include an annex designed by Gwathmey Siegel and Associates Architects, and initiates planning for a comprehensive restoration of the Wright building.

1990 The Wright building is closed to the public so that the restoration and expansion can begin. Over the next two years, masterpieces from the collection are exhibited in a triumphant international tour to Venice, Madrid, Tokyo, Australia, and Montreal.

1991 Through purchase and gift, the Solomon R. Guggenheim Foundation acquires the Panza di Biumo Collection of Minimalist and Conceptual Art. This acquisition dramatically enlarges the Foundation's permanent collection, giving it great depth in works by American postwar masters Carl Andre, Dan Flavin, Robert Ryman, and Richard Serra, among others.

1991-92 Agreements are signed between the Basque Administration and the Solomon R. Guggenheim Foundation to create a Guggenheim Museum in Bilbao, Spain. The Basque Administration will fully fund the $100 million construction and will make annual contributions to the operating budget. The Foundation will provide curatorial and administrative expertise as well as the core art collection and programming. Frank Gehry is chosen as the architect of the future museum. The Robert Mapplethorpe Foundation gives the Guggenheim 200 vintage photographs by Mapplethorpe, as well as a grant to launch a photography program. Contemporary photography quickly becomes a major area of collecting for the Solomon R. Guggenheim Foundation, and within a decade it is able to mount major exhibitions based on its holdings.

1992 After a three-year restoration of its interior, the Solomon R. Guggenheim Museum reopens to great acclaim. An eight-story annex, designed by Gwathmey Siegel and Associates Architects, opens simultaneously. The Guggenheim Museum SoHo opens. During its ten years in operation, the museum, designed by Arata Isozaki, will mount many small but important exhibitions focusing on artists such as Max Beckmann, Marc Chagall, and Antoni Tàpies as well as on art created in new media.

1997 The Guggenheim Museum Bilbao opens and is instantly hailed as an architectural masterpiece. Frank Gehry's titanium and steel structure becomes the first work of museum architecture to rival the Wright building in its achievement and influence. Guided by the Solomon R. Guggenheim Foundation, the Bilbao museum forms an important collection of postwar American and European painting and sculpture that complements the Foundation's holdings in New York and Venice. The exhibition program includes exhibitions that originate at the New York Guggenheim, as well as at other internationally prominent museums. In only a few years, the Guggenheim Museum Bilbao is widely credited with reviving the reputation and fortunes of the Basque region. The Deutsche Guggenheim, Berlin, opens. This small museum, designed by Richard Gluckman, is a unique partnership between the Solomon R. Guggenheim Foundation and Deutsche Bank. Funded entirely by the German corporation, the museum's primary purpose is to commission important new works by contemporary artists that will then enter the Guggenheim collection. Over the next eight years, several distinguished international artists are commissioned, including William Kentridge, Jeff Koons, Gerhard Richter, James Rosenquist, Hiroshi Sugimoto, Rachel Whiteread, Bill Viola, and Lawrence Weiner.

2000 The Solomon R. Guggenheim Foundation signs an alliance agreement with the State Hermitage Museum in St. Petersburg, which becomes a trilateral alliance in early 2001 when these institutions are joined by the Kunsthistorisches Museum in Vienna. The objectives of the alliance are to expand international cultural relations; to make each museum's collections accessible to broader audiences; to pursue collection sharing strategies that complement each institution's holdings; to implement joint exhibition, publishing, educational, and retail initiatives; and to facilitate each institution's long-term goals. Philip Rylands is promoted from Deputy Director to Director of the Peggy Guggenheim Collection.

2001 The Solomon R. Guggenheim Foundation and the State Hermitage Museum jointly open the Guggenheim Hermitage Museum at the Venetian Resort in Las Vegas. This small museum, designed by Rem Koolhaas, is devoted to masterworks from the permanent collections of the allied museums. Simultaneously, a large Kunsthalle called the Guggenheim Las Vegas opens at the Venetian in order to provide a venue for the Foundation's popular exhibition The Art of the Motorcycle. The exhibition runs for an unprecedented sixteen months, at which time the Guggenheim Las Vegas closes.

2005 Richard Serra's monumental site-specific installation The Matter of Time (2005) opens at the Guggenheim Museum Bilbao. The largest sculpture commission in history, it is hailed by critics as a singular achievement. Restoration of the exterior of the Frank Lloyd Wright building begins. Work will be finished in time for the fiftieth anniversary of the museum's opening. Lisa Dennison is promoted from Deputy Director and Chief Curator to Director of the Solomon R. Guggenheim Museum.

THE PRINCE'S FOUNDATION

Accounting convention

The financial statements have been prepared under the historical cost convention in accordance with the Statement of Recommended Practice - Accounting by Charities (revised in 2005). The accounts also comply with the requirements of the Companies Act and relevant Accounting and Reporting Standards.

Basis of consolidation

These financial statements consolidate the financial statements as at 31st March 2006 of Prince's Foundation Enterprises Limited (which raises funds for the benefit of The Prince's Foundation), The Prince's School of Traditional Arts and The Prince's Drawing School.

Income recognition

All incoming resources are included in the statement of financial activities when the charity is entitled to the income and the amount can be quantified with reasonable accuracy. The following policies are applied to particular categories of income:

Incoming resources from generated funds

General grants and donations are accounted for when receivable. Earmarked donations are accounted for as restricted funds and matched against the related expenditure.

Income from grants is recognised on an accruals basis to the extent that grants are for services to be provided over a specified period, or if the grants are conditional upon the delivery of a specified level of service. Grants to which the charity is not yet entitled under these circumstances are accounted for as deferred income.

It has not been considered possible to quantify the value of donated services and facilities, or the value of services provided by volunteers, and these have not been included in the financial statements.

Income from events is recognised when the event takes place.

Income from fund-raising trading is recognised when receivable, using normal commercial accounting principles.

Investment income is recognised when receivable.

Incoming resources from charitable activities

Incoming resources from charitable activities are recognised on an accruals basis, as the related services are supplied over a period.

Resources expended

All expenditure is included on an accruals basis.

Resources expended are analysed between the following headings:

Costs of generating funds	representing the costs of fundraising and communications work.
Charitable activities	representing the direct costs of the operational charitable programmes, and the costs incurred by corporate service teams to support operational programmes.
Governance costs	representing the costs of managing the company as a legal entity.

Where expenditure can not be directly allocated to one of the above headings, it is apportioned based on an estimate of staff time and building use attributable to each of the headings.

Depreciation

Depreciation is calculated on a straight line basis so as to write off the cost of an asset over the shorter of its estimated useful economic life or the underlying lease period.

Office equipment, fixtures & fittings are depreciated at various rates between 10% and 33.3%.

The freehold buildings are depreciated over 50 years. There is no depreciation of the freehold site.

Following an impairment review in 2002, a freehold property was written down to its market value by making a provision for permanent diminution in value. The trustees have not adopted a policy of revaluation under FRS 15.

Foreign currencies

Bank deposits in foreign currencies are translated at the exchange rate applying at the balance sheet date.

Value Added Tax

The activities of the Charity have led to it being partially exempt for VAT purposes. Irrecoverable VAT is included in Support costs.

Pensions

The Foundation contributes to individuals' personal pension schemes. Pension costs are charged to the profit and loss account as payable.

The Prince's Foundation also participates in the Universities Superannuation Scheme, a defined benefit scheme which is externally funded and contracted out of the State Earnings-Related Pension Scheme. The assets of the scheme are held in a separate trustee-administered fund. The fund is valued every three years by a professionally qualified independent actuary using the projected unit method, the rates of contribution payable being determined by the trustee on the advice of the actuary. In the intervening years, the actuary reviews the progress of the scheme.

It is not possible to identify each institution's share of the underlying assets and liabilities of the scheme and hence contributions to the scheme are accounted for as if it were a defined contribution scheme.

Fund accounting

The Prince's Foundation maintains three types of fund:

General unrestricted funds are those which can be used in accordance with its charitable objects at the discretion of the trustees.

Restricted funds are donations, sponsorship or grants given for a specific piece of work or area of activity. The restricted funds are:

Education: relates to grants, donations and sponsorship received to provide craft scholarships by the charities.

Urban programme: relates to grants received from Porcelanosa for the Chief Executive to use in progressing urban programmes.

Miscellaneous programmes: relates to income received for the development of the charity's website.

Endowment funds are those given subject to the requirement that they are held permanently by the organisation. Income generated from endowment funds is used (for education) in accordance with the terms of the endowment fund.

15 Pensions

The Prince's Foundation contributes to individuals' personal pension schemes, which are thus accounted for as defined contribution pension schemes.

The Prince's Foundation also participates in the Universities Superannuation Scheme, a defined benefit scheme which is externally funded and contracted out of the State Earnings-Related Pension Scheme. The assets of the scheme are held in a separate trust.

The cost recognised within the surplus/deficit for the year in the statement of financial activities is equal to the contributions payable to each of these pensions schemes during the period.

Contributions payable during the period were as follows:

	2006 £	2005 £
Defined contributions personal pension schemes	76,087	89,612
Universities Superannuation scheme	4,573	6,809
	80,660	96,421

16 Capital commitments

There are no significant capital commitments.

17 Related party transactions

The Trustees of The Prince's Foundation are appointed by HRH The Prince of Wales.

During the year, the Prince's Foundation received donations from the following charities, which are considered to be related parties:

The Prince of Wales's Charitable Foundation	£250,000 (2005 £342,000)
The Prince of Wales Foundation, an American charity	£237,568 (2005 £131,961)

The Foundation holds legal title to 19-22 Charlotte Road, Shoreditch. The Prince's Drawing School and The Prince's School of Traditional Arts enjoy the right to occupy a third of the building rent-free. It has been proposed that this arrangement will be formalised and discussions are in progress.

THE PRINCE'S FOUNDATION DIRECTORS' REPORT

The Directors present their report and audited financial statements for the year ended 31 March 2006. This report, prepared in accordance with Section 234 of the Companies Act 1985, is also the Trustees' report required by Part VI of the Charities Act 1993.

The Directors have adopted the provisions of the "Statement of Recommended Practice – Accounting and Reporting by Charities" (revised 2005) in preparing this annual report and financial statements.

Structure, Governance and Management

The Prince's Foundation is a company limited by guarantee and a registered charity. Each member undertakes to contribute the sum of £1 towards the company's liabilities in the event of winding up.

It is governed by its Memorandum and Articles of Association, dating from incorporation in June 1998. A Board of up to 20 Directors (who are also the Trustees of the charity), appointed by HRH The Prince of Wales, governs the Foundation.

Directors are appointed on the basis of their knowledge of the built environment or their educational or business experience. The Foundation has the option to recruit from a pool of potential charity trustees maintained by a firm of recruitment consultants. Training and induction is available for new Directors. Directors are appointed for fixed terms of up to five years at the end of which they may be eligible for re-appointment.

The Board meets regularly to set the overall strategic direction of the organisation and to monitor progress of the organisation's work. Day to day management of the organisation is the responsibility of the Chief Executive and the Executive Team.

Subsidiary companies

During the year the Foundation operated Prince's Foundation Enterprises Limited (PFEL), an incorporated trading subsidiary company which was established to undertake fundraising for the Foundation in schemes that do not fall within its own Memorandum and Articles.

Subsidiary charitable companies-The Prince's Drawing School and The Prince's School of Traditional Arts are run autonomously, with their own boards of Directors.

Details of the financial results for the subsidiaries are given in note 9.

Objects

The Charity's objects are as follows:

- a) the protection, preservation, improvement and revitalisation of the Built Environment;
- b) the relief of poverty of people through the provision of assistance (including financial assistance) and encouragement whilst they are being educated, instructed or trained in or whilst they are in the process of preparing for entering upon or engaging in any profession, vocation, industry, craft or trade associated with the field of the Built Environment;
- c) the support of any charity or charities or charitable purpose or purposes.

The subsidiary charities' objects are as follows:

The Princes Drawing School - the advancement of the education of the public in the arts of drawing, painting, fine art, sculpture, print making, fashion and design.

The Prince's School of Traditional Arts - the advancement of the education of the public in the practice and application of the traditional arts and architecture of Islam and other civilisations; and the promotion of the practice and appreciation of such traditional arts and architecture.

The Prince's Foundation for the Built Environment is an educational charity that seeks to improve the quality of people's lives by teaching and practicing timeless and ecological ways of planning, designing and building.

We believe that if we can understand and apply time-tested principles and therefore build in a sustainable way again, we will reap improvements in public health, in livelier and safer streets, and in a more affordable lifestyle for families and individuals. We also believe that neighbourhoods exhibiting these sustainable characteristics will increase, rather than decrease, in value over time.

Through exemplar projects, an academic programme, and policy and research initiatives, we aim to influence the future development of the built environment by affecting the business strategies and long term planning of major developers, government departments and academic institutions. We believe that close scrutiny of traditional models for architecture and town planning is a sound basis for addressing the sustainability agenda.

Review of objectives and activities

The Prince's Foundation:

The Foundation adopted a five-year strategy in late 2004, and reviewed and revised that strategy in February 2006. The strategy sets a vision and a series of goals for the organisation. By 2010 The Prince's Foundation will have made a significant improvement to the quality of people's lives by disseminating its skills, techniques and ideas through:

- Having a minimum of 6 exemplar projects that demonstrate an improvement in the quality of people's lives and the practical application of The Foundation's ten fields of study.
- Having a minimum of 20 joint initiatives with UK Government and key organisations to influence existing thinking and policies.
- Having 10 collaborations with other internationally recognised centres of excellence for the built environment.
- Supporting and drawing on a scrutinised global network of 300 effective practitioners.
- Employing a unique and effective teaching model that has supported a minimum of 2,500 students.
- Raising expectations with the general public for the quality of design and building.
- A portfolio of positive press coverage of The Prince's Foundation and its work.

The 2005/06 financial year marked the first full year of implementing the Foundation strategy. The strategy aims to put in place a core business model of practice based learning, and during the year it:

- Undertook project engagements on three new projects that are expected to be exemplars, progressed a number of others through the design stage and opened one exemplar project at Upton in Northamptonshire.
- Negotiated new strategic partnerships / initiatives with English Partnerships, the Building Research Establishment, the British Home Builders Federation, and the King's Fund.
- Continued to build collaborations with a number of International Centres of Excellence, including the Congress for the New Urbanism, the Remaking Cities Institute, the Congress for European Urbanism, the Al Turath Foundation, and the New Zealand Ministry of the Environment.
- Offered short courses and conferences to over 600 unique attendees in 2005/06.
- Held regional conferences, released reports to the public and generated substantial discussion about urbanism and the quality of life.
- Generated positive news coverage on the BBC, in broadsheets, trade publications and the local media.

The Foundation will continue to follow the strategy in the following ways:

The Chief Executive will direct activities germane to the strategy objectives, and ensure that goals are being reached in both education and projects departments. The CE team also initiates and manages partnership working with major developers as well as research.

The Director of Education is preparing a programme and staffing plan for the coming year, and will work with the new Chair and the Directors to define the model, schedule and strategic partners for a new MA programme.

The Projects Team continues to manage major projects to and beyond the Enquiry by Design stage; these include a strategic growth plan for Lincoln, a major urban extension to Plymouth, a brownfield regeneration at Coed Darcy in Wales, engagement with George Wimpey Homes at Crewkerne, Somerset and monitoring pilot projects at more advanced stages including Poundbury, with the Duchy of Cornwall, and Upton, with English Partnerships.

Explanation of the strategies for achieving the stated objectives

The Chief Executive's Office leads the organisation, manages and oversees all Departments of the organisation, and is directly responsible for key strategic partnerships, building and facilities, development, and relationships with Clarence House. The Chief Executive is responsible for developing and implementing the strategy of the organisation, which must be reviewed and approved by the Board of Trustees and the President. In developing the strategy, it is expected that the Chief executive will consult the senior management team. The Chief Executive reports to the Board of Trustees, while the senior management team report to the Chief Executive.

The Education Department develops policy conferences, strategic seminars and short courses that address the need to build in more sustainable ways. These aim to help design professionals, students, and the communities who live in and shape our built environment. The Education department engages in direct partnerships with key organisations that are able to sponsor individual events to benefit their own members or for goodwill.

The Projects and Practice Department engages in fee earning urban design and masterplanning projects pursuant of the strategic goal of six exemplar building projects by 2010, and in fulfilment of the model of practice-based learning. These are in a range of scales and settings that demonstrate timeless and ecological ways of planning, designing and building. In creating these exemplars, the team are also developing a set of tools and techniques that build upon traditional urbanism that can be subsequently taught through the education programme.

The Design Theory Department oversees the development and evolution of a body of intellectual capital for the Foundation. This intellectual capital will be found both in the ongoing curriculum and principles created by the Senior Fellows and built through Education and Projects and Practice, and in the identification, training and growth of a Network of Practitioners qualified to implement the principles and techniques of The Prince's Foundation.

Development is vital to the charity. In September 2005 a Development Director was recruited to increase the Foundation's fundraising streams and enable a move towards being self-sustainable.

Future activities

In 2006/7 the following initiatives programmes will be initiated or continue:

1. Strategic partnerships with the Building Research Establishment, English Partnerships and the Home Builders Federation, each with a minimum of three direct initiatives.
2. Ten education events between October and July, as well as the development of the MA programme with a significant academic partner, leading to an accredited MA course being initiated in 2007.
3. Development of projects work to include over the next few years:
 - A sustainable urban extension with a landowner dedicated to the long term as well as a new Scottish exemplar project
 - A regional spatial strategy
 - A citywide local development framework
 - Sustainable regeneration of existing suburbs, including retrofit of existing housing stock
 - Social housing estate renewal
 - A public transport oriented development around a railway station/ transport node

- Rural affordable housing in a mixed use village setting
- Continued work on a town extension at Sherford (South Hams) and regeneration of Lincoln city centre

Financial results

Incoming resources for the year totalled £4,227,307 as against £3,685,062 in the previous year, with significant growth in project income, and generous grants towards the new education programme. Resources expended for the year totalled £4,017,934 compared with £3,489,688 in the preceding year, with growth in the project and education departments.

This resulted in net incoming resources of £209,373, comprising net income of £413,867 on general funds and net deficit on restricted funds of £204,494.

Two key performance indicators show that staffing costs to charitable activities grew from 14% in 2005/06 to 18% this year. This reflects an investment in the calibre of staff to fulfil the main charity's objectives. Numbers trained in educational courses and conferences rose from 448 to 600, the nominal cost for each attendee falling from £664 in 2004/05 to £541 in 2005/06.

Reserves policy

Free unrestricted reserves – that is unrestricted reserves excluding those represented by fixed assets – were in surplus at 31 March 2006 by £694,737 compared with a surplus at 31 March 2005 of £205,729. The medium-term aim of the Directors is to establish a level of unrestricted funds which will enable the organisation to operate from a financial perspective with a degree of certainty and flexibility. The fundraising strategy recognises the need to increase the proportion of funding provided on an ongoing, rather than one-off basis and to diversify the number of funding streams.

Risk management

The Directors regularly consider and review, as an on-going process, the major risks to which the organisation is exposed and its control systems: with particular reference to those risks that could potentially prevent the organisation from achieving its principal objectives.

Objectives and Activities of the Subsidiaries

The Prince's Drawing School:

The Prince's Drawing School believes that anyone with talent and passion should be afforded the opportunity to learn to draw, regardless of their financial circumstances.

The School's mission is to raise, for public benefit, the standard and profile of drawing through teaching and practice. In this financial year, it achieved this through:

- A post graduate Drawing Year which educates 25 artists a year in drawing. They are supported by scholarships, field trips in the UK and Europe, studio space at the Tea building studios, access to tutors, classes and lectures.
- A Public Programme: being, public classes open to practising artists and members of the public interested in drawing.
- Community Outreach Programme and Summer School

The Prince's School of Traditional Arts:

During the 2005 / 06 financial year the School sought to fulfil its objects by the following activities: -

1. Education:

THE PRINCE'S FOUNDATION
DIRECTORS' REPORT (Continued)

The most significant activity for this year was the Quinquennial Review whereby the School fulfilled all the requirements of the University of Wales and obtained another five years validation of its course. The first in a series of independently run summer schools was held in August 2005. The new academic year brought in 7 new MA students, 1 MPhil and 2 PhD researchers.

2. UK Outreach and Community Education programme

The School worked in partnership with Shakespeare's Globe Education and with London primary schools in "There's Magic in the Web" and "The Tent of Peace". The School also joined hands with Shakespeare's Globe Education in celebrating "Islam Awareness Week" in November 2005 by organising four workshops for the family.

Three other outreach events in which The School participated were: Skills City on 6-9 July; Art in Action in Oxford; and the Saudi National Day in September. At all these events, exhibitions of the work of the School and demonstrations of corresponding craft were offered.

3. International Outreach Programme:

The highlights for this financial year were three major exhibitions on "The Work of The Prince's School of Traditional Arts" held at the National Building Museum in Washington, DC; The Emir Taz Palace in Cairo, Egypt and at the King Abdul Aziz Historic Centre in Riyadh, Saudi Arabia and the launching of the Cairo Programme on March 18 -21 2006. The Cairo Programme is a one-year programme in collaboration with the Egyptian Ministry of Culture.

The School is also developing a programme in Lebanon with the Safadi Foundation.

Directors

The Directors (who are the Trustees of the charity and the Members of the company) who served during the year and up to the date of this report are as follows:

(appointed 12 May 2006)
(retired 30 June 2006)

Statement of Directors' responsibilities

Company law requires the Directors to prepare or have prepared financial statements for each financial year which give a true and fair view of the state of the affairs of the company and of the surplus or deficit for that period. In preparing these financial statements, they are required to:

- select suitable accounting policies and then apply them consistently;
- make judgements and estimates that are reasonable and prudent;
- prepare the financial statements on the going concern basis unless it is inappropriate to presume that the company will continue in business;
- state whether applicable accounting standards have been followed, subject to any material departures disclosed and explained in the financial statements.

The Directors are responsible for ensuring that proper accounting records are kept which disclose with reasonable accuracy at any time the financial position of the company and to enable them to ensure that the financial statements comply with the Companies Act 1985. They have general responsibility for taking such steps as are reasonably open to them to safeguard the assets of the company and to prevent and detect fraud and other irregularities.

Statement of disclosure to auditors

So far as the directors are aware, there is no relevant audit information which has not been disclosed to the company's auditors. They have taken all the steps that they ought to have taken as directors in order to make themselves aware of any matters which would be relevant for audit purposes, and to ensure that such information has been communicated to the company's auditors.

Auditors

In accordance with Section 384 of the Companies Act 1985, a resolution for the re-appointment of Lindeyer Francis Ferguson as auditors of the company is to be proposed at the forthcoming Annual General Meeting.

Approved by the Directors and signed on their behalf by

Professor
Chairman
Dated: 9 November 2006

INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT TO THE MEMBERS OF THE PRINCE'S FOUNDATION

We have audited the financial statements of The Prince's Foundation for the year ended 31 March 2006, which comprise the Consolidated Statement of Financial Activities, Company Statement of Financial Activities, Consolidated Balance Sheet, Consolidated Cash Flow Statement and the related notes. These financial statements have been prepared under the historical cost convention and the accounting policies set out therein.

This report, including the opinion, is made solely to the charitable company's members, as a body, in accordance with Section 235 of the Companies Act 1985. Our audit work has been undertaken so that we might state to the company's members those matters we are required to state to them in an auditor's report and for no other purpose. To the fullest extent permitted by law, we do not accept or assume responsibility to anyone other than the company and the company's members as a body, for our audit work, for this report, or for the opinions we have formed.

Respective responsibilities of the directors and auditors

As described in the Statement of Directors' Responsibilities, the company's directors' are responsible for the preparation of the financial statements in accordance with applicable law and United Kingdom Accounting Standards (United Kingdom Generally Accepted Accounting Practice)

Our responsibility is to audit the financial statements in accordance with relevant legal and regulatory requirements and International Standards on Auditing (UK and Ireland).

We report to you our opinion as to whether the financial statements give a true and fair view and are properly prepared in accordance with the Companies Act 1985. We also report to you if, in our opinion, the Directors' Report is not consistent with the financial statements, if the company has not kept proper accounting records, if we have not received all the information and explanations we require for our audit, or if information specified by law regarding directors' remuneration and transactions with the company is not disclosed. We read the Directors' Report and consider the implications for our report if we become aware of any apparent misstatements within it.

Basis of audit opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with International Standards on Auditing (UK and Ireland) issued by the Auditing Practices Board. An audit includes examination, on a test basis, of evidence relevant to amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. It also includes an assessment of the significant estimates and judgements made by the directors in the preparation of the financial statements, and of whether the accounting policies are appropriate to the charitable company's circumstances, consistently applied and adequately disclosed.

We planned and performed our audit so as to obtain all the information and explanations which we considered necessary in order to provide us with sufficient evidence to give reasonable assurance that the financial statements are free from material misstatement, whether caused by fraud or other irregularity or error. In forming our opinion we also evaluated the overall adequacy of the presentation of information in the financial statements.

Opinion

In our opinion the financial statements:

- give a true and fair view, in accordance with United Kingdom Generally Accepted Accounting Practice, of the state of affairs of the charitable group and company as at 31 March 2006 and of its incoming resources and application of resources, including its income and expenditure, for the year then ended; and
- have been properly prepared in accordance with the Companies Act 1985.

In our opinion the information given in the Directors' Report is consistent with the financial statements.

The Family of John Simon Guggenheim

John Simon Guggenheim was the son of Simon Guggenheim, one of seven brothers whose father Meyer Guggenheim came to Philadelphia from Switzerland in 1848. Meyer Guggenheim created a successful business importing lace, but made an investment in Colorado silver mines that put the Guggenheim family into the mining and smelting business, a business (the American Smelting and Refining Company or ASARCO) that expanded to include copper and nitrates not only in Colorado, but eventually in Mexico, Alaska, Chile, and other places around the world.

Five of the brothers participated in the business activities of the family: Daniel, Murry, Isaac, Solomon, and Simon. The two younger brothers were Ben and William. Ben went down on the Titanic in 1912, but left a daughter, Peggy Guggenheim, who became a well known figure in the modern art world. William's grandson William Guggenheim III can be reached by email.

Daniel Guggenheim became the head of the family in 1905 and was an avid promoter of aviation and rocketry. Aeronautic institutes that he funded exist at various universities around the country. His foundation still makes grants.

Daniel's son Harry Frank Guggenheim, the founder of Newsday, also created his own foundation, one that has for its primary focus the study of the nature and causes of aggression.

Murry Guggenheim funded a major dental clinic for the poor of New York. When the state took on that responsibility, his benefactions went mostly toward New York hospitals.

Solomon Guggenheim collected art and funded various museum projects until Frank Lloyd Wright joined him to create the Solomon R. Guggenheim Museum, which is supported by Solomon's foundation, now chaired by his grandson Peter Lawson-Johnson.

Shortly before her death, Peggy Guggenheim deeded her art collection and villa in Venice to the Solomon R. Guggenheim Foundation.

Simon Guggenheim became a senator from Colorado in 1907 for one term. He had two sons, both of whom died young, and he and his wife Olga Hirsh Guggenheim went on to devote their resources to this Foundation, both during their lifetimes and in bequests after their deaths. There are no more heirs of Simon Guggenheim. Roger Straus, Jr., a grandnephew of Simon Guggenheim, was until his recent demise an emeritus member of the Foundation's Board of Trustees and represented the Foundation's last connection with the wider family of its founders.

For further information about the Guggenheim family, see John H. Davis, The Guggenheims (1848-1988): An American Epic (Morrow, 1978; Shapolsky, 1989).
