Mr. Jeffrey Epstein,

I have taken the liberty of sending you a sample of an un-engraved Lutron button kit assembly. The FedEx tracking [REDACTED] I believe that seeing the way the button assembly is manufactured would help when we discuss re-engraving the keypads especially with a multi colored assembly.

My previous information regarding the red upper button may not be accurate. I discussed the option of a multi-colored button kit with my Lutron representative and there may be a custom option available. This would greatly simplify the process. We would need to finalize the new engraving and send that information to the custom quotations department for pricing.

On that subject all of the custom plates and all of the engravings are in stock and ready to be installed. I would like to install everything this Wednesday. Please advise. Thank you.<=:p>

Regards,

Al
