I know the holidays are coming up. This friend of mine makes amazing jewelry and I know you have a lot of assistants, Jack of all trades, young girls, women friends and potential women/girls that you will need to get gifts for. You can't go wrong with this jewelry as all women and girls in your case like jewelry. You should get all your assistants something on this site. It can be a one stop shop. If you would prefer my friend [REDACTED] could come to your house and your assistants could pick out what they like. I think it's always better if they pick out what they want. Just throwing my two cents out there for what it's worth. It could be a fun day where [REDACTED] displays what she has and your assistants could look around and see what they want. I think this would be amazing. Better than being at a candy store because it's jewelry.
