Beauty and the Feast

Wednesday, November 02, 2011

What's your idea of a beautiful landscape? We've got snowy mountains, coconut palm-pimped Caribbean islands, a palazzo-spangled city and more this week. The Lodge at Vail is tucked between the slopes and the tony village steps from the resort's express lift, which whisks you to the back bowls - if that's not challenging enough try our trek to Mount Everest Base Camp. Like your view in the comfort of your own villa, check out our Homes for the Holidays in the Mexico and the Caribbean. Finally, we've partnered with Savored to bring you two nights in San Francisco, Chicago or Miami with four meals in the cities' best restaurants - because we like our views edible, too.

A Royal London Retreat

The Cadogan Hotel - London

Between the royal borough of Knightsbridge and a shop-filled corner of Sloane Square, the Cadogan Hotel is an icon of refined English glamour. Opened in 1887, the property has a rich history you can feel in the opulent rooms and suites - especially in Room 118, where Oscar Wilde was famously arrested - and in the grand restaurant, Langtry's. Best of all, its SW1 location means all the sights and shops of the vibrant capital are just a short walk or tube ride away.

The Suite Life in the Big Apple and Sin City

There's only one way to experience Las Vegas and New York City, and it's not pent up in a standard guestroom. The suite life is about spreading out in comfort, space and style. Experience Sin City ensconced in the luxury of the Wraparound Terrace Suite at the Cosmopolitan of Las Vegas, a 1,200-square-foot affair with floor-to-ceiling windows and a furnished terrace looking out over the Strip. Take a bite out of the Big Apple from Gansevoort Park Avenue's lofted suites, decadently appointed and in the heart of the city and all its charms.

Avant-Garde Meets 18th Century in Lisbon

Bairro Alto Hotel - Portugal

Straddling the line between the bohemian Bairro Alto neighborhood and the Hermès- and Cartier-lined streets of ritzy Chiado, this 55-room hotel's selling point is its location. Neither traditional nor contemporary, the converted 18th-century mansion combines colorful azulejos (tin-glazed tiles), parquet floors and antique furnishings with modern creature comforts (flat-screen TVs and WiFi) and avant-garde art. Its retro Café-Bar is a gathering point for trendy lisboetas, with a rotating roster of DJs and fusion tapas

Minimalist Cool on the Portuguese Coast

Memmo Baleeira - Portugal

Overlooking a picturesque bay on the southwesternmost tip of continental Europe, Memmo Baleeira adds a dash of the contemporary to the otherwise traditional and out-of-the-way resorts of Sagres. Minimalist, modern and progressive, this fashionable property wins with chic design, laid-back attitude and a simplicity that is quite beguiling. Couple the aesthetics with some truly inspiring sea views - and a nearby promontory forever associated with Portugal's historic voyages of discovery - and you're embarking on a seriously memorable stay.

Classic Slopeside Digs In Vail

Lodge at Vail, A RockResort

The first hotel in Vail is still one of the tony village's best, and not just because of its prime location next to the lifts (you can't get any closer). Since taking over the Lodge a few years ago, RockResorts has done a superb job of maintaining the storied hotel's classic ski lodge vibe while making gradual updates. Today, it's just as much of a treat to modern-day visitors as it was to those first few ski bums back in the 1960s. With a new spa here and a new chef there, the Lodge has kept up with the times in style.

See, Spa and Explore in Cappadocia

Cappadocia Cave Resort, Turkey

Between a rock and hard place, Cappadocia Cave Resort & Spa is in a transporting location overlooking the millenia-old stone formations and cave dwellings that define this part of Turkey. The 79 rooms are carved into the soft stone, but there's nothing cavelike about them, as they feature French-style beds, flat-screen TVs and massage showers. The destination spa, complete with salt and snow rooms, offers a chance for pampering, and Cappadocia's surreal landscape is on show from all the layered terraces and the outdoor pool.

Budapest's Grande Dame

Kempinski Corvinus - Budapest

Budapest's Kempinski Hotel was one of the city's first true luxury hotels, and it remains ahead of the pack. Located on Deák tér, smack in the center of town, you won't need to travel far to visit the sights from here. The Kempinski draws both business travelers who need to be connected, as well as tourists who want a convenient location and the comfort of a grande dame hotel. The year-old Nobu Restaurant is a welcome addition to this seafood-starved country and a favorite with locals, expat foodies and even the odd Hollywood celebrity.

A Castle Fit For a King (or Queen)

Chateau St. Philippe - France

This stately home, built as a priory in 1032, sits on some 17 acres of property. It's equally gorgeous in the winter when a blanket of snow covers the expansive grounds as in warmer months when apple, cherry and lilac trees are in full bloom. With a tricked-out game room, vaulted cave for you and up to 120 of your closest friends and family and a state-of-the-art kitchen (private chef included), there's plenty to explore beneath the castle's peaked turrets. But Chateau St. Philippe's location, amid slopes, vineyards and hot springs, means the Savoie region is your kingdom. Explorez-vous!

Art Deco on Manhattan's East Side

The Carlton - New York

This turn-of-the-20th-century building on lower Madison Avenue is discreet to the point of secrecy. But that low-key quality vanishes as soon as you enter the Carlton Hotel. Decorated with four chandeliers and an Art Deco street scene of New York in 1924, the Carlton's sophisticated lobby has an intimacy and high style evocative of an earlier time. But whether you're nostalgic or not, the Carlton is an ideal jumping-off point for exploring the neighborhoods of Manhattan.
