my personal new favorite is that reality is nature's notation. like musical notation, it is the playing that is the root of the experience. . notations are open to interpretations. . each instrument plays from the same music notation but has its own tones and resonances. . we see things (notation) , our instrument ( brain ). plays it for us. looking at the instrument and how it is made , tells you nothing about the music it is designed to play or what that music sounds like i enjoy your new fascination with the term human constructs as well as mobjects. reality is a mobject. though it is difficult to recreate smells, or physical pain. Im not sure why people cry OW, when there is no one around. we can also look at psychological torture.

Funny and insightful
But " I " is not a person
It is the awareness in which the person is a fictional character
The characters are in time
Awareness is not in time
Not subject to birth or death Birth and death are human constructs
