Dear Jeffrey,
I and Thom Curtright from the University of Miami, visited Long Island in the Bahamas, for the purpose of looking for possible sites for the Center for Physics we were planned. We were very impressed by the beauty of the place.
We identified possible sites for the Center for Physics one of the sites is conveniently located close to the resort of Stella Maris. Locating the people visiting the Center in such resort could be a possibility.
By the way, I was told that the resort of Stella Maris is now for sale, but the owner wants only a selected number of people to know about this and I was told I could tell you, in case you were interested, contact Richard Keyworth email [REDACTED]
I and Thom Curtright from the University of Miami plan to visit again sometime in May and thought you may perhaps join us, then you could tell us what should be the direction we should take .
Also, Thom and I had the idea of organizing a conference in the resort of Stella Maris in the middle of January 2016 tentatively, which could be the first activity of the center, even before any building is built, do you like this idea ?

that is all for now,
all the best,
Eduardo Guendelman
