I do not trust that he will do this. I am very sorry, but he did not say one word about not paying the bill, then he says that his card was compromised, take payment from his check, now he wants the hotel to wait yet another 5 days until they get payment? Could he have checked into a regular hotel without putting out a card? I really feel that he is taking advantage of the situation and I do not like that feeling.

Please advise, DW
