Can I apply for Asylum for my spouse and children?

Yes, you may ask to have included in your Asylum decision your spouse and/or any children who are under the age of 21 and unmarried, if they are in the U.S. This means that, if you are granted Asylum, they will also be granted Asylum status and will be allowed to remain in the U.S. incident to your Asylum status. However, if you are referred to the Immigration Court, they will also be referred to the court for removal proceedings. You should refer to the instructions in Form I-589, Application for Asylum and for Withholding of Removal, for information on the documents you will be required to submit establishing your family relationships, such as marriage certificates and birth certificates.

Children who are married and/or children who are 21 years of age or older at the time you file your Asylum application must file separately for Asylum by submitting their own Asylum applications

Once you are granted Asylum, you may petition to bring your spouse and/or children (unmarried and under the age of 21 as of the date you filed the Asylum application, as long as your Asylum application was pending on or after August 6, 2002) to the U.S. or to allow those already in the U.S., who were not included in your Asylum decision, to remain incident to your Asylum status <http://faq.visapro.com/Asylum-FAQ7.asp>
