I think that things will pick up soon. See in Yellow below.

I will call you tmr. <=:p>

I am getting a few good LPs.

How is Paris???

I am heading back to Seattle tmr.

Hi Yuri,

Congratulations on the nice Wall Street Journal article today! You are bold and forward looking in all your investments including Xiaomi.

I really appreciated getting the invitation to the 2014 Breakthrough Prizes award ceremony on December 12th. It would be a fun event to attend but it falls on the same day that I have my yearly investment review run by Michael Larson and his team at BGI. Starting the night of the 12th there is a special Microsoft board meeting. So I won't be able to make it this year.

Larry Cohen who works with me could come down for a part that is appropriate for him to attend.

I am particularly sorry as Boris mentioned me that his might be a soft launch of your and Boris' life science fund. As I mentioned you, I am committed to support this any way I can. The other day, I discussed with Boris that I am happy to help you recruit some possible LPs. Please let me know what are next steps and how I can be of help.

All the best,

Bill
