

Sent: Saturday, November 16, 2013 11:30:18 AM
Subject: Fwd: read or don't read. it's ok
From: [REDACTED] <[REDACTED]>
To: jeffrey epstein <jeevacation@gmail.com>

His message 3 days ago

----- Forwarded message -----

From: stan v
Date: Wednesday, November 13, 2013
Subject: read or don't read. it's ok
To: [REDACTED] <[REDACTED]>

Hi. Funny how much and how often I think about you. In many ways you've stayed my best friend. I'm always sharing my thoughts with you and wondering what you would say. The other day I caught myself talking to you in the mirror... Can't help but laugh. Actually it's impossible not to think of you. Nearly every day something comes up that reminds me of you. The other day I had dinner with a young woman that worked at the UN. She is Russian, moved here before she finished college in Russia and needed to go to college here. Worked part-time as a model. Etc etc. It was crazy. Felt like I was talking to you a few years into the future. And what was most amazing was that every few minutes, about 30 times she said very excited "and guess what!" I thought it was a joke! You must have set it up. Life is funny.

Hey, here is a movie you should watch. I still have your dress. We can still make the party. It would be a fun way for us to reconnect and if nothing else just relax.
<http://www.crackle.com/c/marie-antoinette>

And of course I hope your test went well!

Cheers
Stan