With overtime we should be able to remove the window line panel to gain access to the window assemblies, remove the window panels and get them boxed or crated for shipment in 1.5 days.

The reinstallation will take about 1.5 days.

Good afternoon Jeffrey,

The pleated shade manufacturer stated that they require 6 business days (does not include removal, shipping to/from and reinstallation).

They believe that the problem was that they painted the outboard side of the shades black (which we requested) but they have never done this. Obviously they did not feel that it would be a problem in any way, but they admitted they were wrong.

The new shades would be the exact same on the inside and the standard neutral color on the outside.
