Hi Richard,

Thank you for reaching out. I am working through an initial audit and looking into a website issue for Christine. I will be reviewing my audit findings this evening with a few colleagues to discuss what strategies might be required for this project. I work with a partner company at times who specializes in this specific type of project and I want to get their feedback.

I would like to suggest that I prepare my audit findings and suggested strategies into a deliverable as my initial engagement. From there we can determine how the strategies get executed.

Jeffrey I've copied you on this email since Christine told me all project/billing questions need to run through you and Richard.

Please let me know if you have any questions / feedback. I am looking forward to helping resolve the issue at hand.

Respectfully,

Tyler Shears
