I loved your Vatican experience by the way...

And thanks.

When in Paris, what kind of people do you want to meet?

Thanks for lunch.

Look forward to seeing you next week. Better for me during the days rather than in the evening, famille oblige.

Of course all our conversations are confidential. I know they are, but I was educated to have the same silly reflex as to organise a secret meeting and invoke Chatham House rules... I am myself locked like a prison door.
