No, money for school was not wired to my accounts so this is just the actual funds I received in 2012 - well below median income in New York. Unless I am missing something, because that sounds very low.. There is no tax return for 2012. The 2011 return shows 50k - also below median income. No wonder I had to use credit cards...

The application looks so bad, I can't even come up with anything to fix it at this point. I tried to say it was urgent, now I'm afraid it's too late. I can usually come up with some solutions but I am too overwhelmed with this one...there is not one problem, it is all not good. I can still include invoices corresponding to each wire. What is the name of the entity that received the aviation consulting, piloting services and assistance with market research leading to the purchase of a GIV?
