Richard,
Things have not gone as planned.
I need to request till Monday to provide a completed report.
This is not a typical request but my staffing has been difficult this week and I have not been in the office to complete the report as scheduled.
There is no excuse for not meeting the date.
I apologize again.
I will endeavor to complete Friday but I will admit that I am not back in the office till late this evening.
Sincerely

Morgan Royce PE

Brice/Richard,

I have been in contact with Courtney Eichhorst who did the =uctwork investigation. (Please mail the CD to the address =elow).

He has confirmed that none of the ductwork is collapsed or =s corroded.

He mentioned that the return duct is large and connects to =ll four return grilles in the vertical and horizontal surfaces. There =re no openings to any other =reas.

He mentioned that the supply duct under slab terminates at = cap that is not secure and is causing the air flow into the wall =hase.

He mentioned that the same supply duct has a rise under =lab that has a cap that is compressed but does not appear to be =restricting air flow.

All indications are that the ductwork is complete and can =e reused without significant system =ffect.

Given the provided information on the existing ductwork I =ill finish up the report with options/costs for further =iscussion.

I hope to have the report complete soon after the Holiday. = would say next week but it is a short vacation =eek.

Thanks
