So as I told you we met for a lunch a= Harry Cipriani.

And from the really beginning was not=ing we couldn't talk about:)

We started from discussin= the "American history X" - cause I just watched it yesterday (in case for s=me common subject:) lol) I said my opinion ...he told me the story how they=shoot it.. Was really interesting, so he caught that I'm really impress by t=at...

Then he told me his life story... during his speech I asked a=lot of questions... we laughed a lot... was really really easy to ta=k to him :)

Then he asked about me... about my life...=my studies... and I saw he was impressed :) more I saw it... more I felt li=e I wanna impress him even more :)

but still I was honest about everything...

was really touchable moment on the middle of our conversation, whe= he asked me about my sisters/brothers... and on a question about what my o=der sister does - I don't know why but I just couldn't control myself and I=couldn't lie to him as I do to everybody, so I just asked to skip it... He a=ologized but he saw that there were tears in my eyes :(and from that=moment I felt that he became really really open and honest.

He told me about his kids... showed me them pictures :)

He told me how he met Jeffrey and when I said that I got th= feeling that they knew each other for years.. he said that he doesn't know=why, but he really liked Jeffrey and he feels like if they would known each=other since college they would be still friends, cause he felt really good c=nnexion with Jeffrey from very first second :) and of course I said a lot o= good things about Jeffrey too :)

Then we were talking about travels and countries... he was i=pressed that I can speak,read and write on Japanese language :)

Then we were talking about theater in NY and he mention one play -=and asked me if he would get the tickets - would I go with him... And I sai= yes:)

He asked me like 3 times when exactly I'm coming back from U=raine, how long I gonna stay at home etc. - I got the feeling like he has s=me plan for me and he trying to figure it out, like how long I gonna stay h=re more, and for how long I'll be gone...

But whole our conversation I spoke with him as he my old fri=nd and I really didn't want him to get the feeling like I need something fr=m him.

He asked me what I'm doing on this weekend and I=said that I don't know yet.

Anyway was such a free and nice conversation.

He said that I'm really smart young and impressive lady :) and he really likes that I look so happy and sure about what I want to do in my life..and he likes that I'm always smile :) haha

When we left he asked if I don't mind to walk a little bit with him... we walked on a 5th avenue together talking about goals, life, ppl.. etc.. then I took a taxi and he kissed me in both cheeks and when I was about to leave he kissed me in forehead... was sort of "father kiss" (cause I'm sorry, but his oldest son is older than me)... then I left and he went to some store to fix his watch which has been stopped.

That's it, my dear girl :) that's pretty much how it was :)

Hope you enjoying your trip and your shooting, and I'm sure those ppl enjoying your incredible beauty:) xx
