Dear Mr. Epstein,

<=o:p>

I wanted to wish you a Blessed Hanukah to you and your family. While we have not spoken in some time I do think of you often.

I do need to ask you a favor. After 20 years of dedicated service to you, standing by you, and protecting your interests; you decided to make a change in the management of your aircraft sales and acquisitions. I found this out when I saw an Advertisement followed immediately by a call from my friend Larry. While this was disappointing to me, I respect your decision. As part of the process of unwinding our directed marketing efforts we submitted invoices for the advertising expenses that we have always been paid for previously. It is in fact true that we never had a written agreement in place between you and Bristol, but as you once told me "we really don't need one". I am now asking you to please pay these detailed invoices as I am help personally responsible for these expenses. I would hope that you would process these payments if for no other reason than our long term relationship. I assure these expenses are legitimate as I would never take advantage. I look forward to a response to this matter so I can close this account internally.

<=o:p>

I wish you well in the future and I hope keep well.

Best regards,

Sean J. Lancaster
