he wants to but there is a board meeting on Tuesday morning for msft and he's going to drop a big bomb and bring out really cool new computers he made. which means monday is demo day with his team etc. i don't think he will and honestly this thing is so very important to his career that i think i need to let him be.

[REDACTED] is there with me for the weekend anyway so that will be super fun

dr. port says if we go ahead with [REDACTED] it will be oct 3 or 4 (whatever one is the tuesday can't remember) and [REDACTED] will go for that for sure.

i'm just waking up in beijing and loving it here. it has changed SOOOO much. this hotel is incredible, more than i thought the beijing-ren could be!

going to write a shopping story and its a challenge since i only have a few hours. !!!!

was going to ask you about angola. is that a place you want to learn more about. the daughter of the president is supposedly very hot and smart and runs a number of banks. read the economist story about her last week, she's basically bringing investment back from portugal to angola. better economy. it's an odd place for sure. world's most expensive city. i spent $85 on a grilled cheese sandwich. not super monetized economy yet.
