
From: [REDACTED] >
Sent: Friday, August 26, 2011 4:27 PM
To: Jeffrey Epstein
Subject: Thank You

Dear Jeffrey,

Thank you for listening to me blubber on yesterday. I'm very sorry that I just poured everything on you out of the blue.

I feel calm today and am inherently strong so I am not worried. I am in a state of critical flux though. I do need to move into a place briefly, while I decide whether to move back into my own apt. or to keep it rented. It is not healthy for the baby to live with [REDACTED]. Nor for me. (although he can see her as much as he wants). And I don't want to wait while he moves out--nor do I want to disrupt his stability or health.

Would it be alright if someone could show me your available apartment? And are you sure you don't mind if I might have to move in with my baby? I really do not want to inconvenience you. I mean that. I have a backup option possibly with an old friend of my father's who I can ask too.

Once I move, I will start focusing on getting a different job. I would have to move to [REDACTED] in order to stay with my prior company ([REDACTED]) and don't want to do that. I have written [REDACTED] market and will be sending those out shortly with my partner in the next few weeks. So I will probably look for something in the writing/editing field --maybe [REDACTED]-- will contact [REDACTED] too who I know--and just field out requests full force etc. Will then move back into my apt. or get a two bedroom once my financial house is in order.

My main priority is protecting my child and giving her a happy stable environment. She is such a delight. And I will just steam forward and be positive.

Thank you for your thoughts. And not a problem at all if an apartment is unavailable.

xx c

[REDACTED]
cell: [REDACTED]
email: [REDACTED] <mailto:[REDACTED]>