Hi Mr. Epstein if steam goes out no domestic hot water or reheat to the room zone re heat coil for rooms to make set point temperatures. Con Edison will shut steam if all man holes and under ground supply lines get severely flooded. Electrical outage no power to all equipment no computer access to front door entry system .I am keeping service door to basement security bar off door and use key entry access to basement so there is some way to get into 71st street. If all power is lost emergency generator can run elevator equipment if necessary , emergency light power panels , some ac equipment for 3rd floor,pumps in basement. If every thing shuts down the house will be ok the sc-level would get a small amount of water if the sump pump goes out for a long period of time but with no water usage in the house below C-Level it should be ok. We will be fine Richard.
