In the tradition of great fly-on-the-wall documentaries, =AGE ONE: INSIDE THE NEW YORK TIMES deftly gains unprecedented access to =he New York Times newsroom and the inner workings of the Media Desk. =nbsp;With the Internet surpassing print as our main news source and =ewspapers all over the country going bankrupt, PAGE ONE chronicles the =ransformation of the media industry at its time of greatest =urmoil. Writers like Brian Stelter, Tim =rango, the salty but brilliant David Carr and their editor Bruce Headlam track print journalism’s =etamorphosis even as their own paper struggles to stay vital and =olvent

At the heart of the film is the burning question on the minds of everyone who cares about a vigorous American press, Times lover or not: what will happen if the fast-moving future of media leaves behind the fact-based, original reporting that helps to define our society?
