So the ans is it looks like one of those units from LSJ kitchen. It will go across the wall opposite the bed. I am being sent a picture w/exactly where tom. There other part of the unit will go in the ceiling of the little loo. The ceiling will drop a few inches because of that. There are 2 diff size units for you to choose from..I'm assuming you will want the more powerful one...difference is size of unit that goes into loo...one is slightly bigger + aprox 1000 euro more. Waiting for price but around 11,000 for smaller unit. On top of this price there will be carpentry work and electrical which I can now price and I will ask pinto office what it would cost to make a box surround of unit so it blends in w/wall and ceiling. Unit will take 1 month to order from receipt of your cheque and about 2 weeks to install. I will have better prices probably by middle next week. All in probably 20k euro I am guessing + pinto...please advise if I should proceed?
