=y Friends and Fellow Virgin Islanders:

On behalf of myself, my =amily, my dedicated staff both in Washington and here at home, and my tire=ess campaign team of volunteers, I want to say Thank You to all of the peo=le of the Virgin Islands for the opportunity to return to the US House of =epresentatives and continue to serve as your Congresswoman.

It =s a tremendous honor to be your Delegate, your advocate, and a hard workin= fighter for you in the Halls of Congress. When I was first elected, we pr=ised to develop an office for the people that would be diligent and=thoughtful, while always keeping the people at home as our focus.&n=sp;i believe that we have fulfilled that promise and the results of my re=lection showed your confidence in our work, and for that I am truly gratef=l.

Representing the people of the United States Virgin Is=ands is a great honor - to speak for our seniors, fight for ou= veterans, create a level playing field for our businesses and dream for o=r children is always in our minds. We are excited to build on what we have=begun and we are determined to continue to grow a better Virgin Islands fo= us all.

Thank you!
(Isaiah 1:17)

Today, I also want to take a moment t= offer a special thank you to our nation's Veterans. Each year, we gather =s a nation to honor the service of our veterans and to remember the contri=utions that our men and women in uniform have fought for to secure the str=ngth, prosperity, and well-being of our country.

<=pan>Virgin Island Veterans carry a legacy of service to this nation that i= unrivaled. That is evidenced by their history of service in protecting th=s nation even before they were officially a part of it. And also by the sa=rifices of our brave Purple Heart veterans and their families.

It is incumbent upon us all to honor the service and sac=ifices of our heroes, not just today but every day, and not just with acco=modations and medals, but by also making good on the promises we've made t= them and their loved ones when they return from service.

I encourage every Virgin Islander show their support for our Purple Heart veterans by wearing purple today on this Veterans Day and by also stopping to offer thanks to our Veterans for their service.
