Having a regular source of income with loose requirements has been very useful for me to be able to apportion my time into deep thought in the space without worrying about immediate returns. But it would also be good, perhaps, to discuss if I'm meeting your expectations, and what topics you're interested in through 2017 / if you'd want to see more outputs from me directly (some kind of quarterly report/meeting or something?).

For instance, I haven't communicated any of this to you but I've spent the last month or so :

In the next month so I will be continuing the above as well as preparing for:

- coming to MIT to help with Joi's class

- (potentially) giving an invited talk at Stanford's Blockchain Protocol Analysis and Security Engineering conference

Going to Japan to help teach a course to get more Japanese bitcoin developers

Best,

Jeremy
