Subject: Where in the world are you?

Hi Jeffrey,

Thanks for your time on Thursday, I appreciated your advice and have =aken everything you said on board.

I wanted to tell you about the conversation I had with Charlie today. I =rove up to his upstate property and we had lunch. He offered me the =ole of business development manager; where I would represent his brand =nd look for opportunities for him that sit outside his Bloomberg show. =he role we discussed was multifaceted:

1. Develop a number of television series - He wants to do a series on =hina and a series on Japan and proposed that I raise the money and help =roduce both series.
2. Following up on ignored opportunities - He said that he is constantly =pproached by different organisations that want to develop conferences =nd television series with him (Microsoft, AOL, Stanford University, =tc), but he hasn't had the time to follow up on any of these =pportunities.
3. Develop my own ideas - Whether it be a specialised conference, or =elevision series, that could be independently funded.

But there is a catch; he currently doesn't have the budget to pay me =nything... I mean $0. So I would have to wait until one of the above =pportunities came off before I was paid for my time.

He concluded by saying that he wants to work with me, but it was a "reap =hat you sow" opportunity.

What are your thoughts? Do you think it is worth pursuing under these =erms? I definitely think there are a number of opportunities I could =urse on his behalf, but for me it's all about timing and income.

Maybe I could treat him as a client and look for other consulting =pportunities to augment my income?

I would really appreciate your thoughts.

Thank you again for your time and interest.

KK
